There were 52 at the dinner meeting.

NURSES TAKE COURSE ON CIVIL DEFENCE

New medical techniques will make it possible to save thousands of lives, even in the event of atomic attack, said instructors of the course "Nursing in A.B.C. Warfare" (atomic, biological, and chemical warfare), at classes held in the parliament buildings and St. Michael's hospital, Toronto, for nurses from all parts of Ontario. Miss Verna A. Smyth, supervisor of Public Health Nursing, York County Health Unit, attended from Newmarket.

The four-day course was led by a federal government team of three nurses, a physicist, and two medical consultants. Those present will in turn instruct other nurses, active and retired, in combating the effects of blast, heat and radiation.

Miss Smyth said that in 1952 further courses will probably be given to nurses.

Contributions of $37 have been made towards the Newmarket Lions Christmas Basket Fund objective of $1,000 this week. The first contributions were from Thornton, Bales, Sutton West, of $10; Frank VanMook, $2; Dixon Pencil Co., $25.

The Christmas Basket Fund is an annual campaign by the club and its purpose is to assure that those whose circumstances are less fortunate will not be forgotten. The baskets contain food and clothing and toys for the children. The recipients of the baskets are named by such public service agencies as the health unit, Red Cross, and by members themselves.

Every effort is to be made to avoid duplication and to ensure that those needing this Christmas assistance will get it. Baskets are distributed in the district about Newmarket as well as in the town.

Contributions may be made through any of the banks, at the Era and Express office, or to the secretary, Tom Doyle.

THREE MEN ROB $30 FROM CAMPBELL'S STORE ON TUESDAY

A total of $30 was taken from the office of Elman Campbell at his store on Tuesday at noon. As police reconstruct the crime, three young men aged 27-30, went into the store during the noon hour. Two of them made purchases while the third went into the office and rifled the till.

The clerk spotted the man coming from the office and when the cash was checked, $30 was found missing. Two of the men were described as dark complexion, the third as light complexioned.

It is believed that they were also in several other stores in Newmarket. They were in R. C. Morrison's store looking at shirts, according to Austin Brammer, then walked across the street and into Campbell's store.

Four In North Gwill. Withdraw To Give Council Acclamation

Although there were seven persons nominated for three North Gwillimbury council positions at Belhaven last Friday, four withdrew to make it an acclamation. Reeve Norman Doyle and Deputy-Reeve Lloyd Pollock were re-elected by acclamation along with the three 1951 councillors, Cecil Prosser, William King and Charles W. Richardson.

There was no opposition to the reeve and deputy-reeve. The seven nominations presented for council were: Frank Willoughby, nominated by Harold Upton and Robert Tomlinson; Cecil Prosser by Frank Marritt and William Pugsley; Clark Martin by George White and Carl Anderson; William Pugsley by Lillian Holborn and Clark Martin; William King by Fred Peel and Arthur Pollock; Arthur Pollock by W. A. King and Arthur Dawson and Charles Richardson by Bruce McMillan and Mary Munro.

William Pugsley was not present at the meeting and Township Clerk Irwin Winch declared his nomination invalid because he had not given satisfactory evidence that he consented to be nominated, a requirement of the municipal act. Willoughby, Martin and Pollock withdrew to make it an acclamation.

Reeve Norman Doyle revealed that an added assessment in the township, from Snake Island, which had never been assessed before, would mean an additional $723,000. 11c reviewed figures

Largest Vote In Newmarket, Phimister Heads School Polls

Charles E. Boyd and Mrs. Violet Robinson MacNaughton were given strong support by electors on Monday in what is believed to be the largest vote ever polled in Newmarket. The two leaders finished with a sizable margin over last year's councillors and their totals were the first in Newmarket to reach four figures.

Boyd headed the polls with 1,108 votes and Mrs. MacNaughton took second place with 1,064. She was 263 votes ahead of number three councillor, Charles VanZant, who polled 801.

Two veteran councillors bowed out, Frank Bowser and Tom Birrell. It would have been Frank Bowser's 13th year on Newmarket council.

NO DOUBTS ABOUT ELECTION

There were no doubts about this year's election. The last councillor elected was Rudy Renzius with 647 who had a comfortable lead over Frank Bowser's 617. Aubrey Seythes polled the lowest figure, 254.

Last year there were two votes between Frank Bowser and defeated candidate, Mrs. MacNaughton. In a recount challenge by Mrs. MacNaughton, Bowser remained ahead of Mrs. MacNaughton but she gained enough votes for a total which was greater than that of Lorne Paynter. According to law, however, the recount was a contest between Bowser and MacNaughton only and Paynter remained elected.

There were sufficient differences in total votes this year to definitely place candidates, elected or defeated. The smallest vote gap was between defeated candidates Bowser, who polled 617 and Wrightman, who polled 612.

PHIMISTER LEADS SCHOOL POLL

George Phimister lead the polls in the school board race when three were to be elected out of four candidates. His total was 998. Second was Mrs. M. Best with 962 and third, Mrs. C. A. Curtis with 759. Mrs. Curtis edged out Caroline E. Ion by 14 votes.

The town vote was much larger than municipal officials expected. Late Monday afternoon there was a rush call for more ballots and a number of school board ballots had to be printed before polling booths closed.

HEAVY VOTE SLOWS RETURNS

During the evening, returns were slow coming in from St. George's and St. Andrew's wards where voting was heaviest. The final figures were not completed until 9.30 p.m.

The first results came in from St. Patrick's ward where there was a comparatively low vote. Boyd, with 261 and MacNaughton, with 258, were in the two top positions and kept their leads as more returns came into the clerk's office. At one point the two council leaders were tied.

As some of St. George ward returns came in there was doubt about the last positions. Renzius, Bowser and Wrightman were receiving close votes. As the final St. Andrew's results were posted, it was evident that Tom Birrell and Ed Wrightman would be out.

The vote showed a growing Newmarket or an increased interest in municipal elections, or both. Boyd's lead of 1,108 is a large increase over last year's figure, 793, polled by top man, Charles VanZant. There was a higher vote for school board as well. Top man, George Phimister, polled 998, compared with 821 by Allan Perks last year.

57.4% MARK THEIR BALLOTS

A total of 1,916 voters marked their ballots for council candidates, for 57.4 percent of the total number of voters in Newmarket. A total of 1,769 marked their ballots for school board candidates. Although the latter figure is not broken down, the percentage of school board voters who marked their ballots is much higher than that for town council.

Connect Georgina Is. By Phone Indians Pay Cost Of Installation

Although Georgina Island Reserve in Lake Simcoe is at last getting telephone service, the improvement will bring its problems, with 150 Huron Indians using the two phones, one in the home of Chief Lorenzo Big Canoe, the other a pay phone outside the store. Queuing seems inevitable, but eventually many families hope to have phones.

Residents of the island, aroused at the fact that the communication has often been isolated in the winter because of conditions in the channel between the island and Virginia Beach, have appealed many times to the Department of Indian Affairs. No response was forthcoming.

The Indians themselves are paying the entire cost of installation — $4,500, and also the monthly toll.

Linemen have chopped an 18-foot channel in the ice to put down two cables. The phones will provide direct communication with the Indian agent, W. Lyons, at Virginia Beach.

Farm Forum News

We are pleased to print reports of local farm forums but they should be sent as soon as possible to ensure early publication. — Editor

Last Monday evening, Farm Forums discussed "Educational Outlets for Adults". Specific topics were: short courses or community schools; use of background material in discussions to keep them from becoming mere "chit-chat"; and library services in the community.

Holt Farm Forum met at the home of Mr. Bruce Lapp, with 10 members present. Discussion leader was Mr. W. F. Hopkins, at whose home the next meeting will be held. This forum would welcome courses on bookkeeping, budgeting, veterinary skills, woodcraft, mending, and sewing. The group "has little trouble with chit-chat," and usually has a good discussion period. The local public library is well-stocked, and the majority of members belong, but it was felt that reading clubs would help them make better use of their library.

Kettleby North End forum advocates community schools with instruction in sewing, handicrafts, mechanical skills, dramas. The secretary, Trevor Proctor, says, "We don't have very much chit-chatting and when we do, the chairman gets the group back on the subject." The group decided to send for books from the Travelling Library service of the Public Libraries Branch, 206 Huron Street, Toronto. Last meeting of this forum was at the home of Mr. Jack Harmon, with 15 present, and the next meeting will be at the home of Mr. Jack Macginn.

Newmarket East, meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Bales, with 17 present, would like to see evening courses held in the high school on such subjects as farm mechanics, soil management, dress-making, nutrition, and horticulture. This forum keeps to the subject under discussion by having good leadership and dividing up into smaller groups so that everyone may contribute. Library facilities are available without making use of the travelling library service. Next meeting will be at the home of Mr. Ken Whittle, Sharon.

Pine Orchard forum met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ross Armittage. Leader was Stuart Starr. The group discussed the advisability of having short courses on farm management and farm accounting. Other points raised were that the probable reason why young people leave the farm was that there was not sufficient money above the cost of production to meet the wages paid in urban centres. It would be educational and beneficial if more of the neighbors availed themselves of the farm forum opportunities. Next meeting of this forum will be at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Sytema.

With reference to next week's subject, "Folk Schools", the secretary mentions that some years ago the late Arthur Hawkes, then editor of the Newmarket Era, helped to organize a community folk school at Pickering College during Easter vacation, attended by young people from all parts of the county, including Prof. Alex Sims and Leonard Horman.

On December 10, the topic will be "Folk Schools for Farm People", the final subject in the current series on "Community Living". Let us have your reports on this meeting as soon as possible. — Farm Forum Editor

STUART SCOTT WINS ATTENDANCE PRIZE

The Stuart Scott school won the attendance prize for the second consecutive month by having the highest percentage of parents and teachers at the Nov. 27 meeting of the Newmarket Home and School association. William Blackshaw, principal, received the prize for his school from the president, Mrs. Howard Morton.

The meeting opened with the singing of "O Canada." Neil Lothian was at the piano. This was followed by the Lord's Prayer. Following the brief business session, Dr. Margaret Arkinstall, convener of the Home Education committee, gave a very interesting talk on "Methods of discipline, approved and unapproved."

At the close of Dr. Arkinstall's talk, the large group in attendance was divided into six smaller groups for discussion. Three questions were discussed for about 20 minutes when the meeting was again called together and the findings presented from the discussion groups. An active period of open discussion then followed with other questions relating to the topic being aired.

The three questions considered in the groups were: "Should you give a child a bicycle for passing his exams?" "Should you pay a child for home duties?" "What should a parent do if a child gives up music lessons, etc.?"

A display of petitpoint and needlepoint was a highlight of the affair. Other booths which received their share of attention included home baking, aprons and fancy work, house plants and candy.

Ag. Rep. Takes Tour With Jrs. To States

Flowermen of York County have been awarded several trips in recent years but this time their agricultural representative was the one who hit the road with his bag when he was asked by the Ontario Flowermen's Assoc. to act as trip manager for the two boys in the inter-county tractor class at the recent international Flowering Match, who were winners of free trips to Chicago.

Noted by the British American Oil Co. They went to the International Livestock Exposition and the 4-H Club Congress.

Elmer Erb of Perth County and Lare Hare of Haldimand County, accompanied by W. M. Cockburn of York County, left on Saturday, Nov. 24, and returned on Saturday, Dec. 1, travelling by special coach with the 25 Junior Farmers from various counties who attended the 4-H Congress.

Mr. Cockburn states that they received a very warm welcome from their American cousins attending the Congress and were royally entertained. In addition to attending sessions of the Congress, their program included an extended sight-seeing trip of the city, as guests of the International Harvester Co. of Hamilton; visits to the world famous Adler Planetarium for a demonstration of the skies of tomorrow; the Garfield Conservatory which has the largest collection of tropical plants under glass, the Museum of Science and Industry with its seven acres of exhibits including a full scale demonstration of coal mining.

In addition to visiting the livestock show where they visited with a number of York County exhibitors who, incidentally, did very well, the plowmen rented a car to drive out to the famous Curtiss Candy Co. farm which maintains herds of practically all the common breeds of beef and dairy cattle. To conclude the week, the trio joined the Junior Farmer delegates on a theatre party to see the famous stage show "South Pacific", now in its 55th week in Chicago.

Bob Hamilton of Schomberg, the York County delegate to the 4-H Congress, was a member of the Junior Farmers group which was limited to one per county. These young folks will long remember the complimentary banquets and even early morning breakfasts, including performances by outstanding entertainers at which they were entertained by various industrial companies. It was a thrill to sit down to one of these functions with 1800 others, including delegates from several of the countries of Europe, Central and South America.

Two 4-H girls from Hawaii travelled for two days and nights by plane to attend and were happy to get a maple leaf badge for a souvenir. Having had little time to sleep, it was a tired but happy crowd that sang their way home on Saturday night.

IN MEMORIAM

Breen—In memory of a dear mother and grandmother who passed away Dec. 8, 1949. You are not forgotten Mother, Nor ever will you be. As long as life and memory last, We will remember you. Ever remembered by Clarence, Alice and family.

Breen—In loving memory of Beatrice Marion Breen, a dear mother who passed away December 8, 1949. Your memory to us is a keepsake. With which we will never part; God has you in His keeping. We have you in our hearts. Ever remembered by Lila and Bill.

Breen—In loving memory of a dear mother, Beatrice Marion Breen, who passed away Dec. 8, 1949. Today recalls sad memories. Of a dear mother gone to rest, Happy hours we once enjoyed, How sweet their memory still. But death has left a loneliness. The world can never fill. Ever remembered by daughter, Harold, son-in-law, Joe, and grandchildren, Marion, George and Diane.

Breen—In sad and loving memory of a dear mother, Beatrice Marion Breen, who passed away Dec. 8, 1949. Her thoughts were all so full of us.

She never could forget, So now we think that where she is She must be watching yet. As guardian angels keep watch up there.

Please God, just let her know That we down here do not forget, We love and miss her so. 'Tis sweet to remember a mother so dear, Absent from us, yet ever so near; Unseen by the world she stands by our side And whispers: Dear children, passing cannot divide. Sadly missed and lovingly remembered by daughter Doris and son-in-law Jack.

Breen—In loving memory of mother, Beatrice Marion Breen, who passed away on Dec. 8, 1949. While you dear mother rest and sleep, Though on earth you are no more, Still in memory you are with us, As you always were before. While you are softly sleeping, And the flowers gently wave, What I would give to clasp your hand, The one we could not save. Ever remembered by Son Floyd and daughter-in-law Lillian, son Howard and daughter-in-law Kathleen.

Gilpin—In loving memory of a dear wife and mother, Alice Victoria, who passed away Dec. 5, 1950. What would we give her hand to clasp Her patient face to see, To hear her voice, to see her smile, As in the days that used to be. But some sweet day we'll meet again Beyond the toil and strife, And clasp each other's hand once more. In heaven, that happy life, Sadly missed by her husband and daughter, Minnie.

Patterson—In loving memory of a dear husband and father, William J. Patterson, who passed away December 3, 1950. Though absent, he is always near, Still loved, still missed and ever dear. Lovingly remembered by wife and family.

Pegg—In loving memory of our dear grandson, Johnny Pegg, who passed away Dec. 2, 1949. Ere sin could blight or sorrow fade, Death came with friendly care; The opening bud to heaven conveyed, And hued it blossom there. Grandma, Doran and Art.

Priest Takes to the Air to Visit 32 Missions

After 16 years of plodding through Northern Ontario's dense hinterland on snowshoes in winter, by canoe in summer, Rev. Gustave Lampron, parish priest of Roman Catholic church at Foley, 190 miles north of Sudbury, has taken to the air. The priest will use the trim silver and red Cessna aircraft, donated by Buffalo sportsmen friends, to visit his far-flung missions, 32 in all, where he ministers to some 3,000 lumbermen, railway employees and trappers.

ROMAN SALUTE FOR CANADIAN DELEGATE

MASCOT REFUSED TO ACCEPT DEFEAT

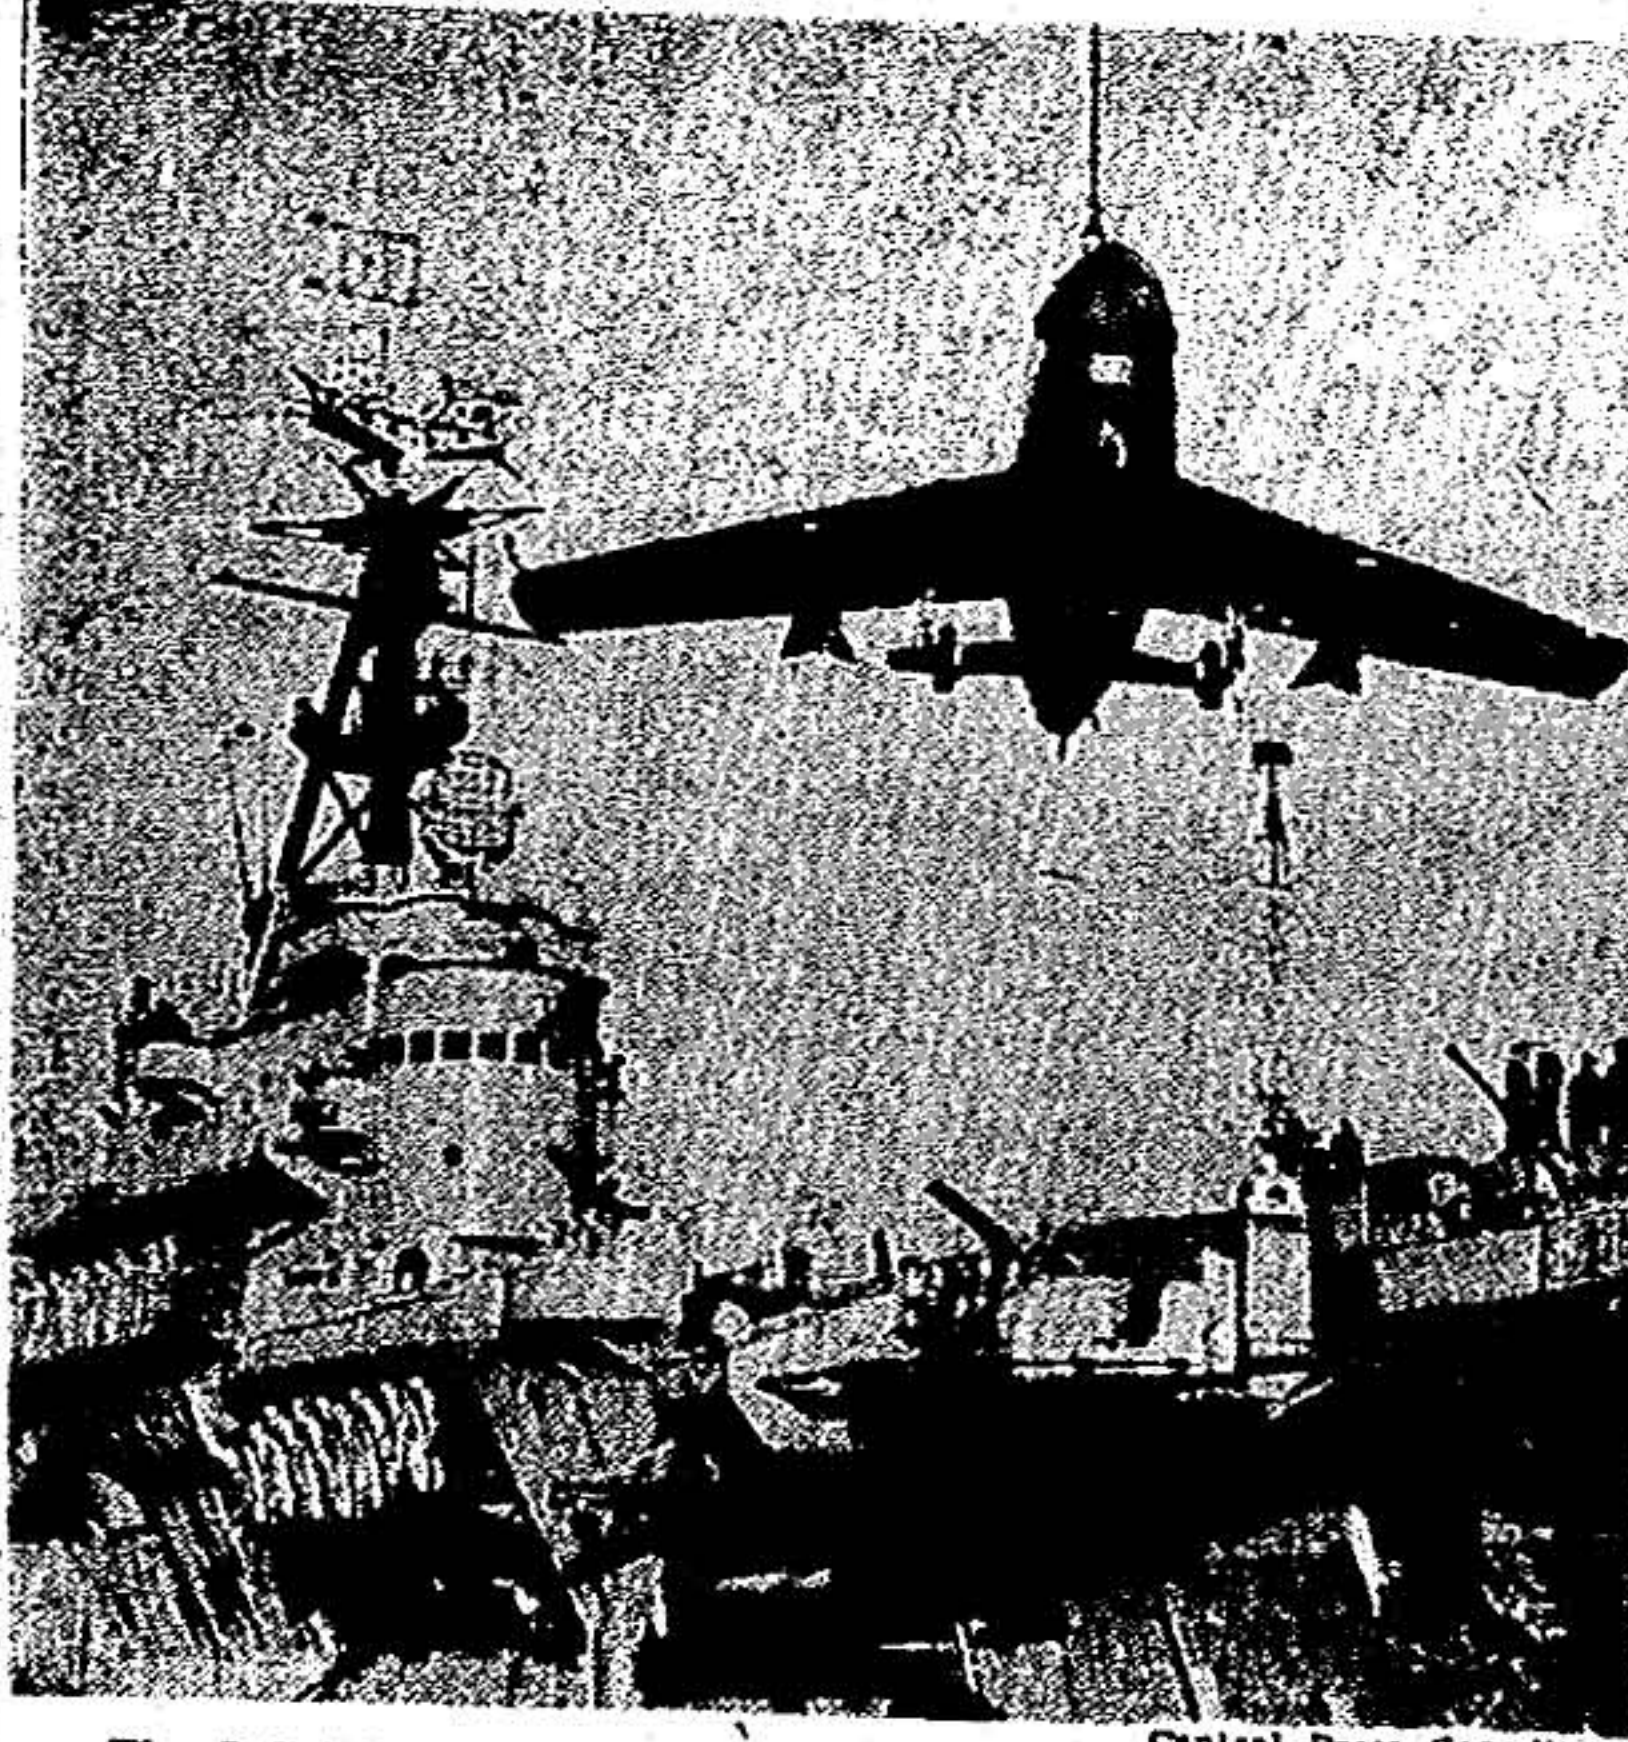

Little Sport, mascot of Lieut. Ed. Mastroratti's Royal Canadian Regiment's platoon in Korea, is a battle-hardened veteran now. The platoon fought its way out of a Chinese trap around an outpost position 600 yards from the main United Nations Lines on Nov. 2. "Sport" was one of the coolest customers during the entire eight-hour battle which raged until the Canadians were almost out of ammunition. After the battle, Pte. R. C. (Red) Butler, left, of Sudbury, Ont., found the pup still growing defiance in the platoon's command post which earlier had been overrun by attacking Chinese. He brought him back to Lieut. Mastroratti, right. Pte. Butler was trapped by the attacking Chinese and played possum in his slit trench after a Chinese soldier tossed a grenade his way. He was unhurt. In the battle the platoon's formations suffered heavy casualties.

Aurora Town Teams Score 24 Goals In Tuesday Fixture

It was goals galore in Tuesday Aurora Town League fixtures. The teams punched home 24.

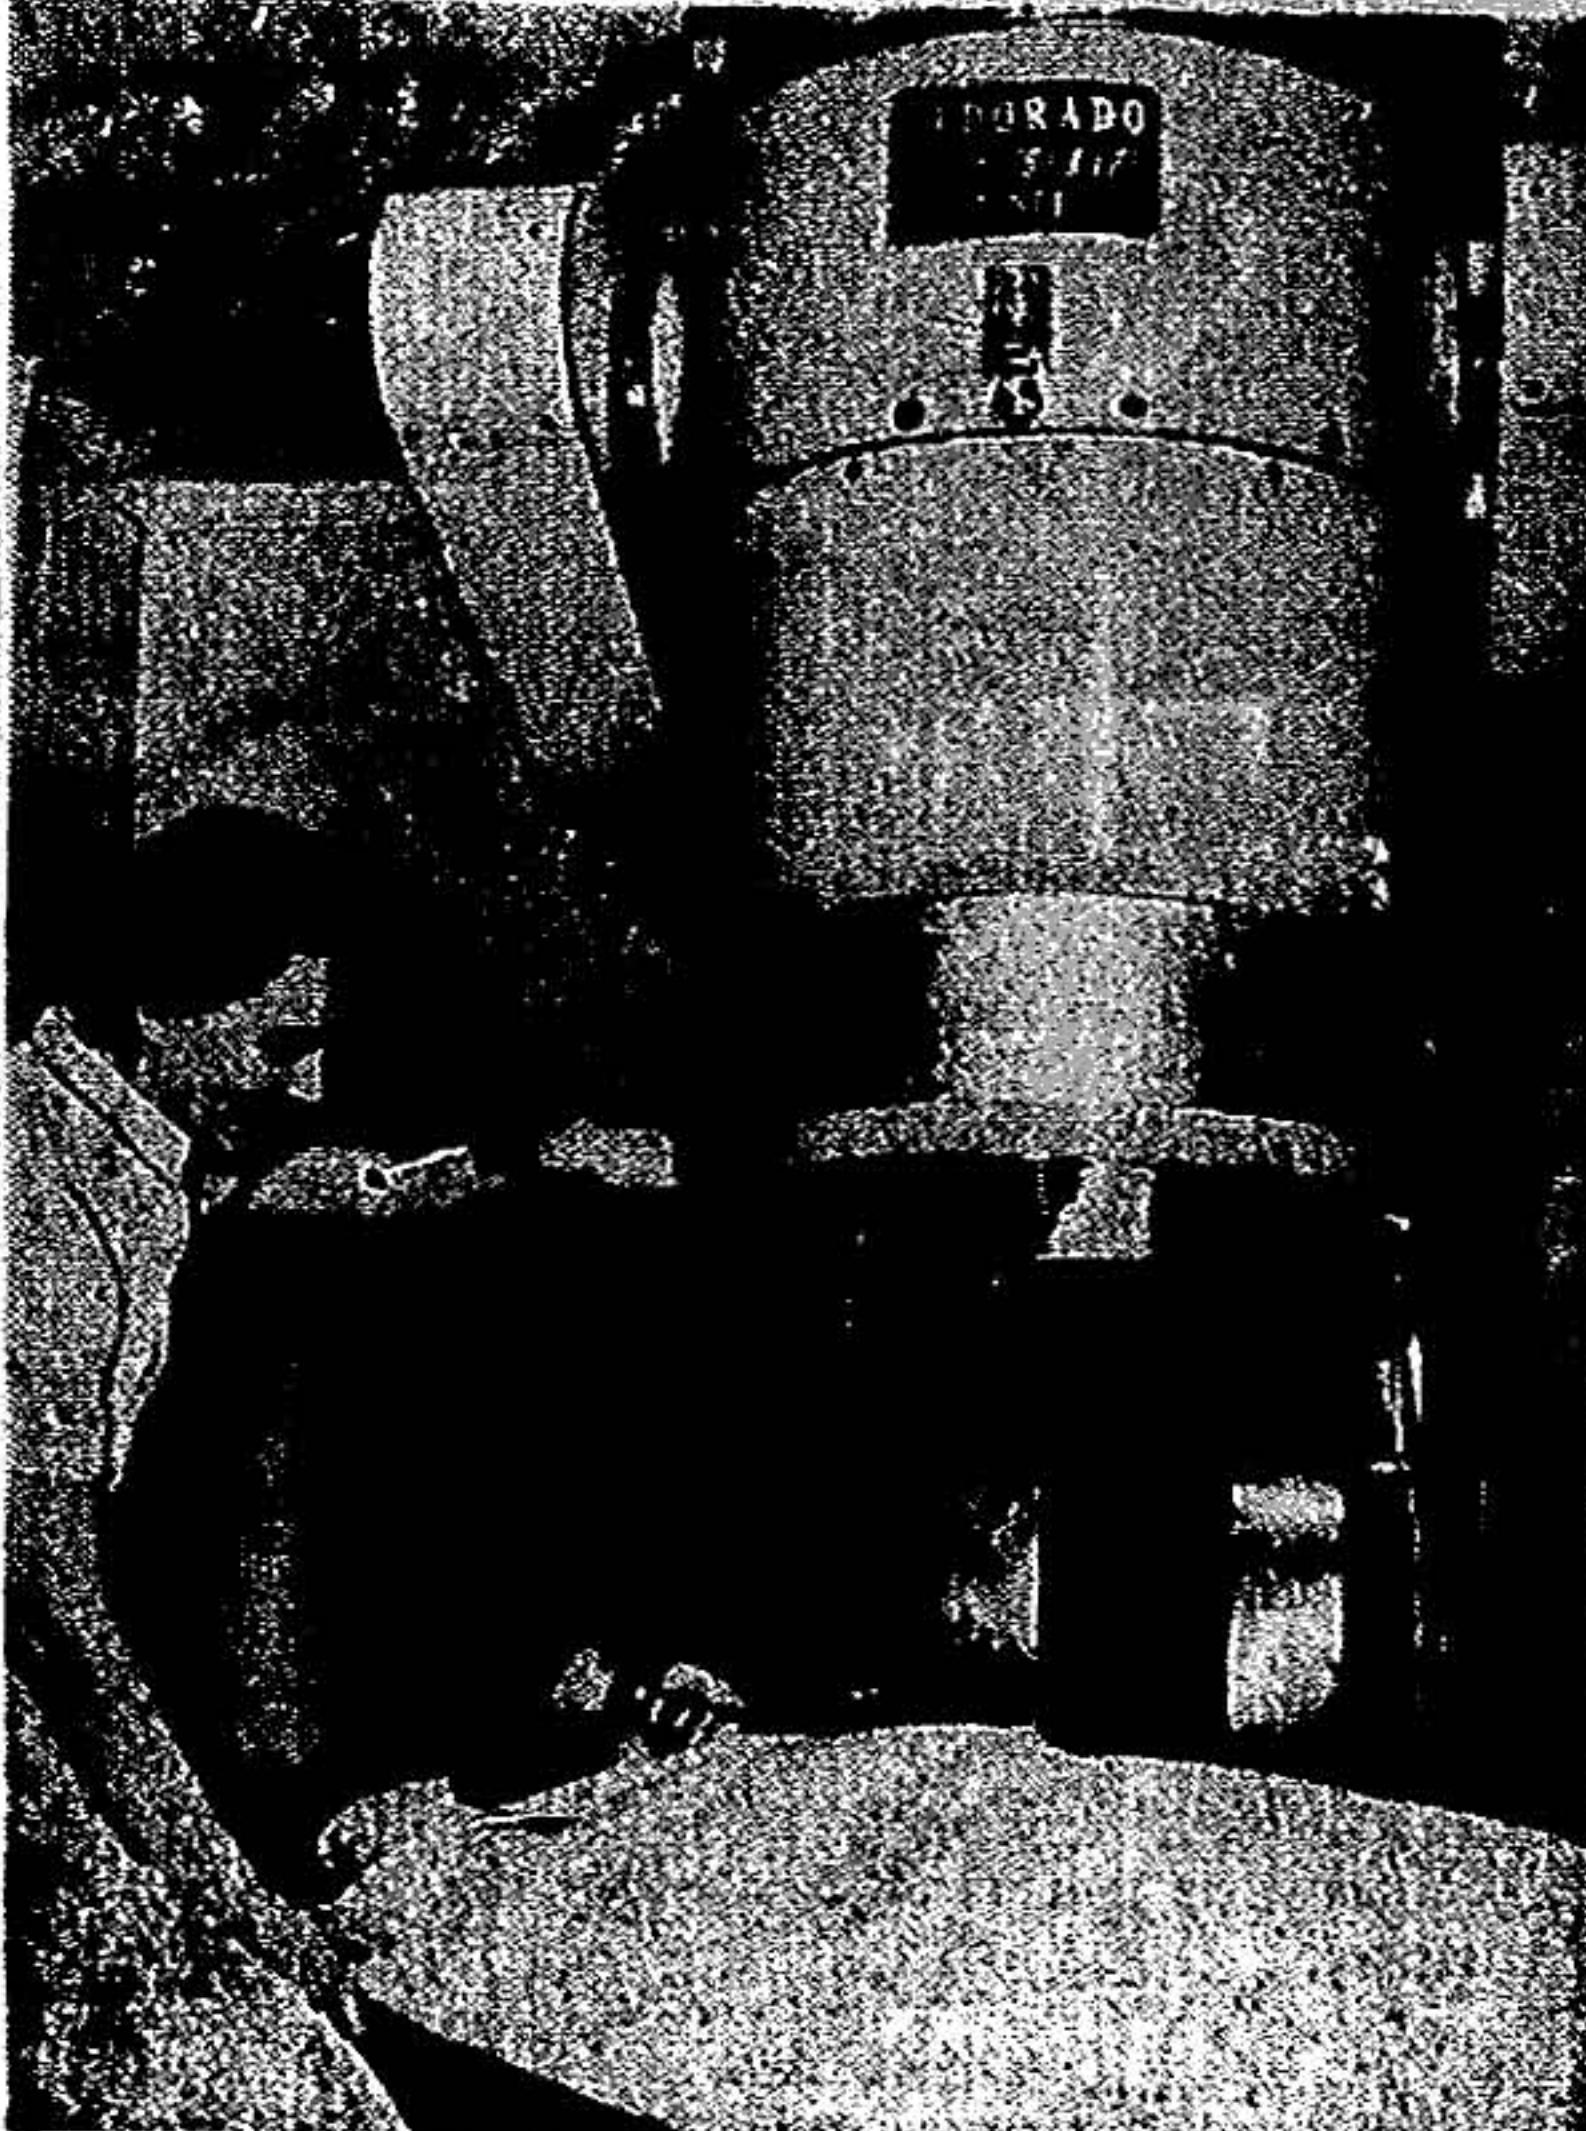

Paced by hat trick performances by Harold "Flash" Stephenson and Frank "Rocket" Young, Ditch Diggers swamped Victory Flyers 12-2. It was the Flyers' first loss and cracked a three game winning streak.

Spark-plugged by three point men Ron "Chubby" Simmons and Bruce Rose Cliff, Chapman's Case's Aces blanketed Jim Murray's Hotelmen 7-3. The loss spilled the Hotelmen into the league basement.

In the early game, Charlie Sutton, Mickey Sutton, Earl MacDonald, Don Watson, Ron Smith and Bill "Tiger" Mundell netted singletons in support of Harold Stephenson's and Frank Young's three-goal scoring sprees. Ronnie Brown in the Diggers' cage had his shut-out erased by Bill Kingston. Bill whipped home the Flyers' goose-egg crackers in the final five minutes, both were break-away efforts.

IT'S A Woman's World

BY CAROLINE ION

A few years ago we published in the Era and Express, favorite recipes which had been taste-tested in local kitchens. Among these recipes were two Christmas fruit cakes, one light and one dark. Mrs. E. A. Mitchell forwarded them to us with the assurances that for years they had pleased the palates of the many who had tasted them.

Each year since then we receive requests to re-print these recipes. Someone has misplaced her copy. Another tasted the cake during the holiday season last year and wishes to make it herself. Again, this month, when the time of fruit cake baking is at hand we have received additional requests for the recipes. So here they are... not too late, we hope, for this season's trying.

LIGHT FRUIT CAKE

4 eggs, separated
1/2 lb. butter
1 1/2 cups fine sugar
1 1/2 lbs. bleached sultanas, washed and dried
1/2 lb. citron peel
1/2 lb. almonds, blanched and sliced
1/2 lb. red cherries
1/2 lb. green cherries
3 rings pineapple (or 1 small tin, Stafford's Pineapple sundae topping)
2 tsp. vanilla
1/2 cup warm water
2 tsp. baking powder
3 1/2 cups pastry flour
1/2 tsp. salt

Cream butter, sugar, add the beaten egg yolks, vanilla and warm water. Sift flour once before measuring. Sift three times with salt and baking powder. Flour the fruit, add alternately with flour. Add cherries, pineapple and lastly add stiffly beaten egg whites. Bake in 9" square pan lined with wax paper covered with two or three layers brown paper. Rub top layer with shortening. Or in circular tube pan 4" deep and 9" diameter. If latter pan used, it is not necessary to line it. Bake in moderately slow oven, 275°, 2 1/2 hours.

DARK FRUIT CAKE

1 1/2 lbs. butter
1 1/2 lbs. light brown sugar
13 eggs
1 1/2 lbs. flour
1 tsp. salt
2 tsp. cinnamon
1/2 tsp. cloves
1/2 tsp. mace
2 lbs. currants
3 lbs. raisins
1/2 lb. dates (cut fine)
1 lb. citron peel (cut fine)
1/2 lb. almonds, blanched and sliced
1/2 cup grape juice
1/2 cup strong coffee
2 ounces chocolate
1/2 cup strawberry jam

Cream butter, add brown sugar and cream well. Add eggs, two at a time and beat in at this time two tablespoons of flour to prevent curdling. Sift flour, spices and salt. Sprinkle fruit and nuts with some of the flour. Melt chocolate, add coffee, jam and grape juice with fruit and remainder of flour. Smooth top of cake and dampen with cold water to form a shiny glaze. Bake in two large pans or set of three fruit cake pans which have been lined with wax paper covered with two or three layers of brown paper. Rub top layer of paper with shortening. Bake in slow oven, 250°, 2 1/2 hours. This cake will keep well for at least a year if stored properly. Wrap in wax paper and store in covered crock.

Poppy Campaign

Sometime ago we had a phone call from Mrs. Arthur Sheridan in connection with the Newmarket Legion's Poppy campaign. Mrs. Sheridan had convened the sale of poppies and had left poppy boxes at each of the five elementary schools in town. "I think this shows a wonderful spirit of co-operation on the part of our teachers," Mrs. Sheridan said when she began her account. "It isn't anything very exciting but I feel it deserves mention because it shows how the children with their teachers backed the Legion's efforts to make Nov. 11 a day to remember."

Mrs. Sheridan said that when she visited the schools to collect the boxes, Miss Ila Haines' class, Alexander Muir school, was busy with the project. The teacher had told them the story earlier so that the children were busily coloring their drawings of poppies.

On the back of each drawing, the child had written a short story to accompany it. Lynne Penrose, grade 2, had completed her work and showed it to Mrs. Sheridan. On the back of her drawing she had written, "For the soldiers who are in the hospital we are going to cut these poppies out and hang them on the wall and always remember about the soldiers that were wounded in the war."

"This was not the exception," said Mrs. Sheridan, "but illustrative of the fine support we received."

The hand-worked baby jackets, booties, bonnets, socks, mittens, stuffed animals, dolls' furniture and the blouses and skirts, aprons, crochet work, weaving, jams and jellies, helped to realize the nearly $200 raised through this project. This sum gives some indication of the work accomplished by the Aurora, Schomberg, Mount Albert and Newmarket groups as well as the many individuals who contributed to the project.

Bears Open With Win

Miles and miles of mileage unfolded under Aurora Bears' skates Friday, and consequently, they opened at home with a rousing, pleasing 5-3 win. Victims of the Aurora gad-about were Elmira Polar Cubs.

Manager Andy Closs and Coach Charlie Rowntree have let it be noted about they're hatching a district hockey machine. Friday's scoring facts amply bore this out. Bears' hot-shot line, their spearhead, embraced Newmarket, Aurora and Kettleby players. Ace potter was Aubrey Pepper Martin, ex-Newmarket Rocketman. Pep got two goals and an assist. Don Munshaw, Kettleby, chucked in one. Handy dandy pivotman, Andy Closs, Aurora all the way, did what he ought to—supply passes for three pay-off shots.

A similar cut in the swag was evident down through the balance of the scoring as Bob Forhan and Bobbs Cook salted sniping efforts away. Bob Forhan's polish off job was a beauty to behold, a rising corner finder. Assistng alms were bestowed on Walt Fines, Don Egan, Keith Collings, Bob Hanna, Joey Gasko and Grant Edwards.

Aurora led 2-1 at the end of one. It was the visitors' counting first as Don Davis swished a screened drive by Joe Burke. The eBears had it up to 4-2 as the scoring fitted into a similar pattern before the scrapers came out to business again. The teams traded tallies in the finale.

Penalty bench custodians opened the gate gracefully to 18 "bad boys" as Referee Bob Peters kept his educated thumb in the wig-wag position Sin-bin activities hit the invaders harder than the home forces as Aurora cooked up two of the five with Elmira at a man-power disadvantage. Over 600 hot-dog munchers attended—the kids got 'em free as a pre-Santa gift—and it was the kind of hockey that'll bring 'em all back and their cousins, uncles and aunts to boot.

Defenceman Bounced

The books on the recent King-Kettleby donnybrook are closed. King-Vaughan Hockey League officials met last week and announced Norm Taylor, King "Maroons" defenseman, had been hit with a three-game suspension for his part in the extra-curricular work. Taylor drew the only match penalty of the game that had to be halted after five minutes of second period action.

The game never did get going after the team staged their "on ice" donnybrook. The game will be replayed, if necessary, at the conclusion of the regular schedule.

N.H.S. Net Teams Win

Last week was a big one on the volleyball courts. Four teams entered the North York Secondary Schools volleyball championship playdowns. Teams entered were Aurora, Richmond Hill, Bradford and Newmarket. The finals were run off last week in Richmond Hill.

Newmarket High School girls made a complete sweep coming home with both the junior and senior championships. In the junior playdowns Newmarket romped to a 48-12 win over Richmond Hill and had a comparatively easy time eclipsing Aurora 51-10 to annex the championship. Aurora defeated Bradford to gain the finals.

In senior, Newmarket ousted Aurora 39-12 in the opening round. Richmond Hill polished off Bradford. Newmarket lasses gained the crown with a 19-15 triumph over Richmond Hill.

School Hoopla

The North York Interscholastic Basketball League will have three series this year, Junior A, Junior B and Senior. Four teams have entered the men's division competition. They are Richmond Hill, Aurora, Newmarket and Pickering College. Play for the league championship and the right to advance into the C. O. S. S. A. Ontario playdowns will open the second week in January.

The ladies' division will be operated under a similar set-up with entries from Richmond Hill, Aurora and Newmarket being accepted. League officials met Tuesday in Aurora to put their plans in shape for the coming season.

Representatives present were Principal J. H. Knowles, Mrs. J. Gerrow, Frank Gregoire, Aurora; Miss J. Kelly, F. Speer, Newmarket; L. Lanier, Pickering College; Principal A. S. Elson, W. Morrow and Wm. Ellis, Richmond Hill.

Curlers Note!

Aurora and Newmarket curlers and would-be curlers are reminded Bradford's plush new artificial ice curling club has openings for a few more members. If you haven't joined—do it now. For information contact Joe Winterkorn, phone 404w3, Newmarket, Lou Stephens or Ken Silver for information.

Back in 1765, when Canadian horses numbered 13,488, or one to every five inhabitants, Governor Vaudreuil became alarmed and said there were so many horses that young men were losing the art of walking. Canada has some 600,000 miles of highway.

King-Vaughan Back on Beam

King-Vaughan hockeyists threw away their previous scripts on rough stuff, played it by the book, and provided the fans with three action crammed contests last week.

Featured were Schomberg's second straight win, King City Maroons near stopping of Nobleton's victory pace and Bolton Wanderers' first win of the campaign. Score-board soundings read, Schomberg 4 Kleinburg 2, King City 3 Nobleton 3, Bolton 5 Kettleby 0.

Now for details. Murray Edwards and Henry Hollingshead jabbed home Schomberg start-off tallies. It gave the Bergers a 2-1 first round margin and they never looked back. Work-horse Bill Winters connected for the lone middle period goal. Jack Greig rifled home a third round marker to complete the Schomberg scoring. Kleinburg countered with tallies in the first and third. Bill Roe and Alex Shaw were the marksmen.

Mounties Spill Town

As expected, an upset result greeted town league disciples Monday in another rousing twin bill. A pulverizing five-goal attack in the final round enabled Office Specialty to thunder to a 10-4 win over Vandorf. The result was more or less expected. Upset came when Mount Albert piled in for an early 3-0 lead and matched production in the final round with Town Regents to earn a 5-2 win over the high flying Towners.

The combination of the Specialty win and Regents loss put the cabinetmakers into first place.

In the early contest two four-point men paced the sizzling Specialty attack. Ken "Motts" Thoms helped himself to four goals and Bruce Townsley rapped in three and added an assist for good measure. Barney Pearson, Howie Ash and Bob Staley counted singles.

Vandorf goal-getters were Bill Kingdon, Stan Pollard, Howard Timbers and Clem Ellas.

Mount Albert's lively front line twosome, Pete Swartzman and Doug Ross, had much to do with their victory plans. Swartzman sniped for two goals, Doug Ross counted a goal and an assist. Bruce Paisley and Elmer Paisley collected other Mountie tallies. John Maronets cut in on the scoring cake for two helper marks.

Mounties had the Regents on the ropes 4-0 in the early third before Harold Gwyn sifted a shot behind Bill Mulholland. Bob Smith and Cliff Gunn combined for the Towners' other marker, Smitty making the shot. Though they didn't appear in the scoring statistics, defenseman Bob Dixon and net-minder Bill Mulholland played starring roles for the winners.

Office Specialty: H. Andrews, R. Wilkins, G. Blight, N. Zogala, B. Pearson, S. Gibbons, K. Thoms, I. Burke, B. Townsley, H. Ash, J. Staley.

Vandorf: G. Fletcher, A. Lloyd, M. VanNostrand, N. VanNostrand, W. Kingdon, J. Preston, T. Tidman, C. Ellas, H. Timbers, S. Pollard, B. Hood, R. Staley.

Mount Albert: W. Mulholland, B. Dixon, J. Maronets, R. Draper, P. Swartzman, D. Couch, D. Ross, M. Smalley, R. Stokes, B. Paisley, G. Green, E. Paisley, D. Grose, H. Berwick.

Aurora Ladies Ready

Aurora ladies, who proved conclusively last year that boys didn't have a monopoly on hockey, will launch another season next Tuesday. Aurora gals on that occasion will be host to East York ladies hockey team. Game time is 7 p.m.

Aurora line-up, reports Coach Ken. Rose, will be Gwen Myke, Edna Marinoff, Joan Marinoff, Barb. Rose, Lucille Case, Gloria Evans, Audrey Dymont, Anne Skanes, Irene Mashinter, Midge May, Shirley Goodwin, Esther Topp and Betty Patrick.

Free For Kids

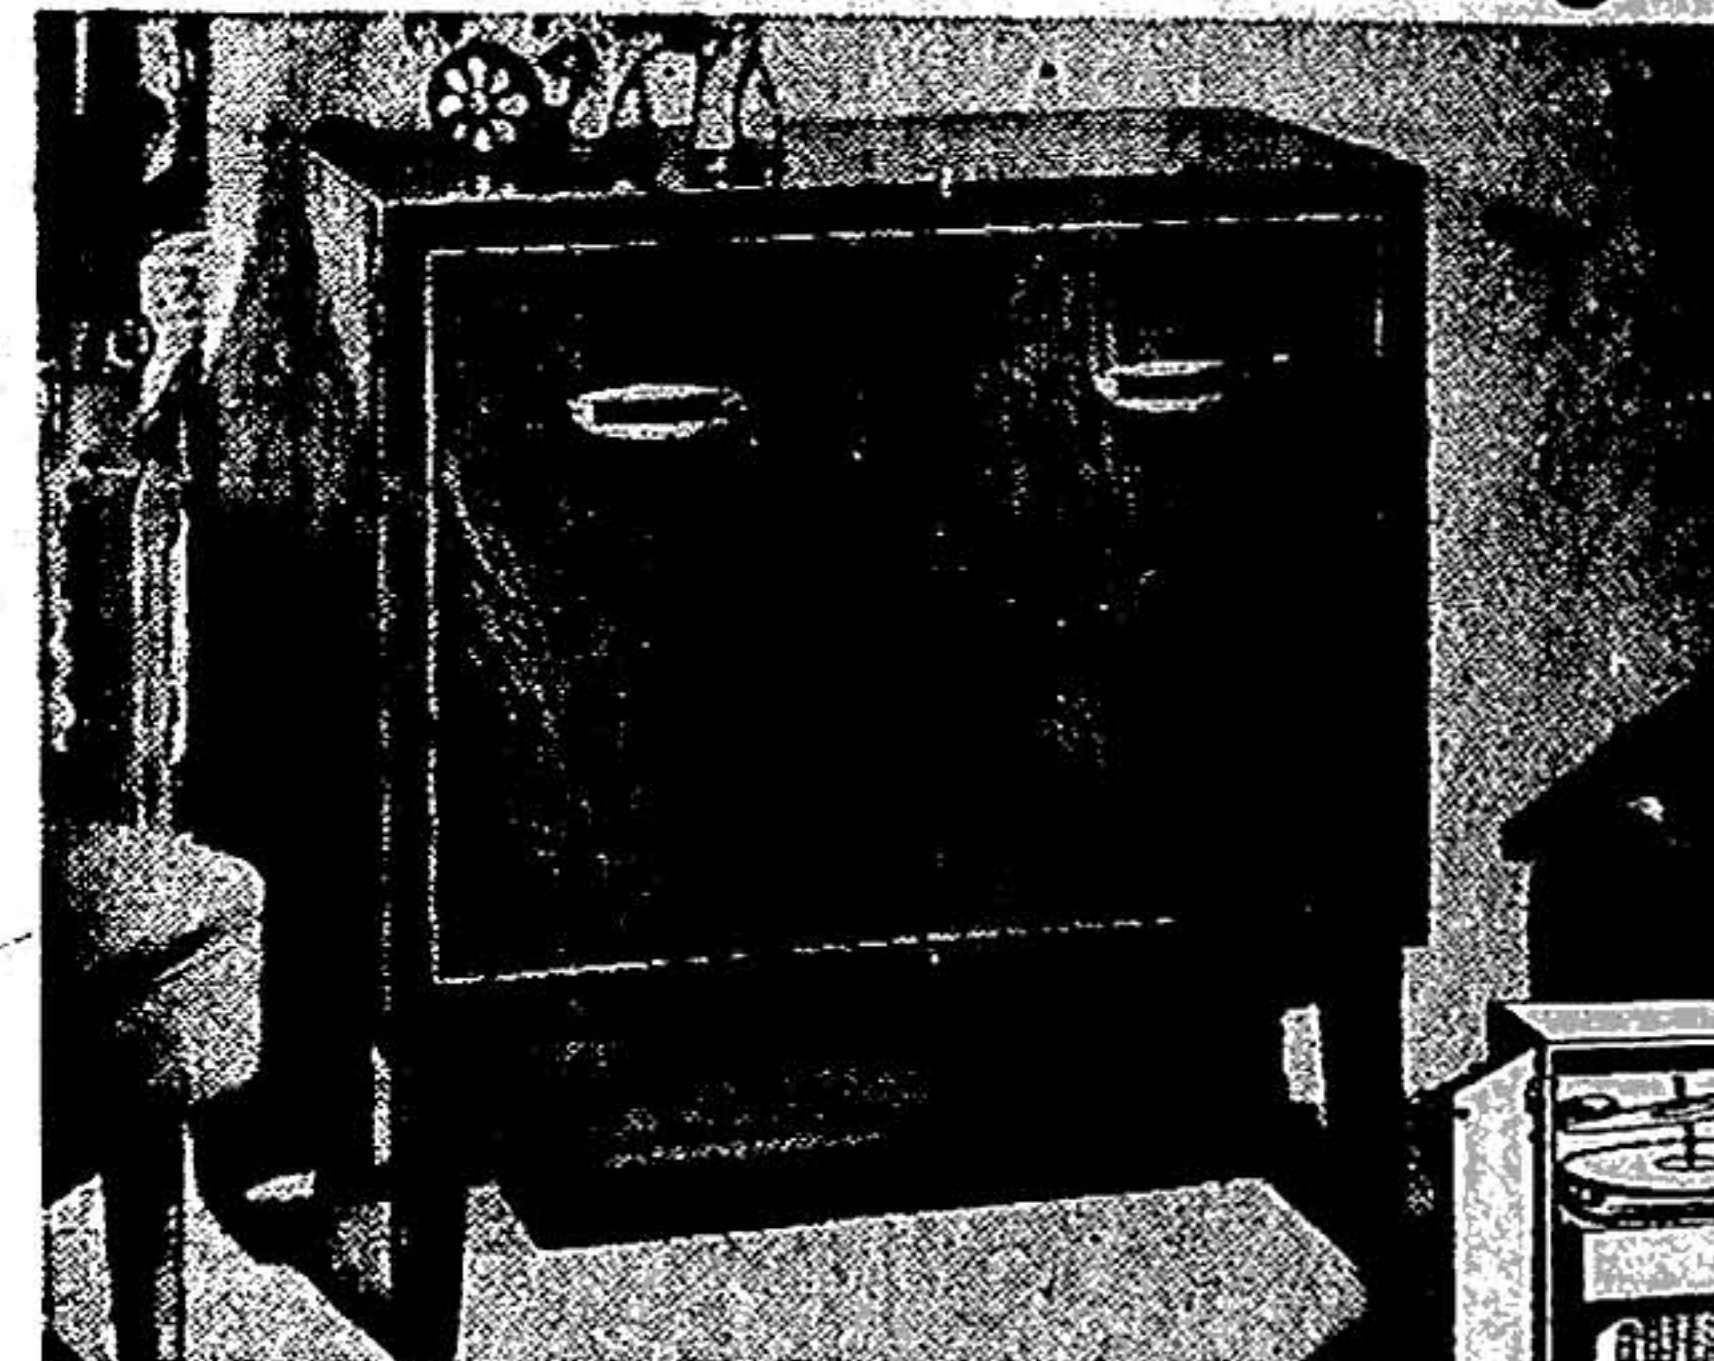

Boys and girls, when accompanied by an adult, henceforth will be admitted free to all Newmarket and District Hockey League games, reports league president Ray Smith. Fan attendance for the Monday "blood and thunder" tilts has been soaring and the league is keeping well ahead of the balliff.

"It's the biggest two bits worth of hockey you could find anywhere," continues president Smith. The league has three evenly balanced teams in the Office Specialty, Town Regents and Mount Albert. Harry Lavender, Vandorf coach, is endeavoring to strengthen his sagging basement dwellers and if successful there won't be any sure victories from here on.

CLOSE BOOKS TONIGHT

The Lake Simcoe Softball League executive and team representatives will meet tonight (Thursday) to officially close the 1961 season, reports league president Ross Chapman. The meeting will be held at president Chapman's residence and is called for 8 p.m.

Pee-Wees Open Up

Canada has its Allen Cup. Aurora has one too. In Aurora it's the Roy Allen Trophy representing pee-wee hockey supremacy. The four teams comprising the Saturday morning pee-wee league launched their drive to land the Allen cup in their cupboard Saturday morning. Two ties resulted from last Saturday morning tilts.

Leafs and Canadiens drew 3-all and in game two, Detroit and Chicago battled to a scoreless draw. Don. Glass paced the Leafs scoring with two goals and Hugh Hammond collected one. Ted Murrell, Hugh Bolsby and Bob Davis counted one each for Canadiens.

In the scoreless stalemate, Redwing net-minder Leroy Ellis and Black Hawks Billie Case, guardian of the rigging, came up with outstanding blocking jobs to gain shut-outs.

League over-seer Bill Mundell advises "hope to get the bon-tam team rolling next week. Four teams, Spence's, Rockets, Arena Jets and Ernie Imps in that division. There's need for a couple of sponsors. Anybody game?"

Spits Show Improvement Lose 5-3 To Collingwood

Spits lost number two Saturday night as they invaded Collingwood. They dropped a 5-3 decision to Eddie Bush's Collingwood Shipbuilders.

But the result was so startling—after Thursday's debacle here—Spits supporters are almost hailing it as a win, and local fandom had every right to look on the situation more hopefully.

We'll let manager Mickey Smith give you the manager's slant on it: "It wasn't the same team—Spits were vastly improved. They had hustle and fight. We were without Ross Hochberg, Jack Andrews and Normie Legge. With those three we could have won."

Joe Tunney starred in goal. "Fink" Tunstead came up with his best effort of this and several seasons. Ken Broughton was a decided asset, but all our boys were jolly well up and at 'em and proved they'd all taken on their quota of wickets."

Spits pulled a 1-0 edge in the first as Al Shewchuk re-routed a Don Smith pass into the Shipbuilders' cage. Spits hit again for two in the third, a Shewchuk pass to Don Gibson registered and a three way relay from Bill McGhee to Orrie Thoms to Grant Firth clicked. Betwixt the Spits scoring, Shipbuilders got in their kill shots on two goals by Len Cook and singles sniped by Frank Gowing and Robbie Sandell.

LOSE 9 - 4

Newmarket Spits were seared 9-4 by Collingwood here Thursday. The occasion was the Big Five Senior group opener. Their loss downcast some 1,100 fans. The visitors' overall advantage more or less added up to the total that Collingwood are the team to beat if the Spits are to go far down the O.H.A. trail.

Scoring statistics: Collingwood hit a three goal period clip. Spits were in for one in the first, improved for two in the second, and completed with a last period tally. "Fink" Tunstead re-routed an Eddie Bush intended clearing effort into the Collingwood cage for our first.

A goal mouth wild stick swinging exchange enabled Bill Patrick to pot number two. Swiftly Todd assisted. Bill Johnston struck when Collingwood was a man short for the third, assisted by Don Smith.

Smitty came back for the fourth—20 seconds remaining in the game—as he caught the Collingwood rear-guard napping as they started to celebrate too soon. Bill Johnston gained an assist.

Eddie Bush made sure his charges got away on the right foot with a goal at 2:30 to crack open the scoring. The Bushman didn't score again but racked up three assists. Frank Gowing was their only two-goal man.

Collingwood had polish inside Spits zone. They threw the puck around more freely than Shewchuk's band. On the other hand, a good many of Spits' rushes broke on the rocks of the Collingwood defense. Score didn't rightly indicate the division of play. Spits had as many if not more shots on the Collingwood cage.

Penalty box statistics: It wasn't a heavily charged penalty game—there were 11. It was no tea party—rugged would describe it. At times the puck appeared a non-essential accessory. Biggest blow-off came early in the third as Ref. Red Farrell chased Eddie Bush and Normie Legge for five each for fighting. The do even brought a few rail-side fans into the melee.

Spits Clipped

We're as happy as the next one to see a team start campaigning with a win before the home folks but at the expense of our Spits—vote is no. Spits were visitors to Stouffville to see the Clippers get their Big Five season mobile Tuesday. The Clippers did get mobile and clipped our Spits 7-2. That loss ran the Spits string to three and haven't hereabouts. However it'll be different tonight, as the Spits entertain Midland here. Swiftly Todd and Don Smith accumulated the Spits' scoring points in Tuesday's battle. Harold Gibson with two, Bud Watson, Polly Minton, Jack Rummy, George Stark and Nick Bangay with singles, were the Clippers goal-getters.

Don't Write Off Spits Too Soon

Spits seek their first win tonight as Stouffville Clippers come to cananotown. The Shewchuk-Smith outfit having dropped three in a row are frothing at the mouth and ready for real meat. It was 7-2 for the Clippers on Tuesday, with Blake Estough, former goalie for Weston Juniors and Brampton Juniors, turning in a great game for Stouffville. Normie Stundin will likely be in the visitors' net tonight which doesn't improve matters any.

Nick Bangay, Herbie Rose, Mac Petel, former Aurora Juniors, Jackie Watson, Geo. Stark, Jack Rummy (Aurora Indians), and all the rest need no introduction to the fans. It should be a pipperoo and don't sell the Spits short as they might have won at one stage in Stouffville.

Aurora Bears meet Fergus Thistles in a junior tilt at Aurora, on Friday night and the Bears with a nice 5-3 win over Elmira and a tie with Nobleton will go into the games as favorites. Fergus dropped two pre-season games to Elmira, 7-1 and 12-4, but are said to be improved. In any event the Bears will be all out to win, and the junior race looks to be a dandy one from start to finish. The O.H.A. with Fergus leading the van tried to boost Aurora to "C" rating, but the Bears will have their hands full to beat Elmira, and Nobleton have shown they can hold their own with the Class C. No need to mention that Hespeler will likely be the cream of the crop.

HASHMAN AWARD

"Up And At 'Em Boy"

Up and at 'em spirit puts plenty of marks in the win column for any hockey club. Aurora had that spirit and plenty of gallop under their skates Friday night as they broke the junior O.H.A. hockey campaign open.

It was a winning performance, of course. Most "up and at 'em" guy in our books was Aubrey Pepper Martin. Pep needs no introduction to the fans hereabouts. He came up through our minor hockey ranks and was a junior Rocketman last season. He was a rocketman in every sense of the word Friday. He connected for two goals and an assist to pace the Bears scoring statistics.

That's why we're nominating Pepper Martin for the Hashman award and Roxy Theatre pass this week.

With good tight group games, the team can and will make the playoffs out of the red. No use thinking of the Nobleton game again. Blowing a first period 2-0 lead, the Bears let the King kids bull them around and play for ten minutes and finally lucky to win. Rowntree will have to crack the whip on one or two of the squad who are a bit can-tankerous.

Keith Collings was the star from an Aurora angle with two goals, and his clever pivot work made rookies Bobby Forhan and Stow Wilson look mighty good. This trio is the best Rowntree has right now. Artie Barber is due to join the club again, and will see action next week. The popular redhead has plenty of get-up and go, and may revive the play of one or two of his last year's mates.

The People's Choice: Monday brought both good and bad luck to some of our sports friends as voters went to the polls in many municipalities; Al. Lampert, backer of Sunday sports and an ardent canoe and "sea-see" and around the Province: Eric White, of lacrosse fame, made the grade for a second term to council at Fergus; Dick Butler, former O.H.A. president, is reeve of Lindsay; Charlie Parker, especially noted for his work in girls softball, is back as headman at Midland (Hockeyist Fat Swales was defeated as alderman); Harney Reist, an old friend from Queens U., and a good man at football and hockey, was elected reeve of Preston; Summer Stirling, great footballer of yesteryear, tops at St. Thomas; Jack Orr, used to play football for Maple, and for Wiltowdale, later was C.S.M. of "C" squadron, Queens Yorks, elected Hydro Commissioner in North York.

Flowermen remembered by the voters were Win Timbers (Whitchurch), Fred Timbers (Markham) and Heber Downes (Pickering), all reeves too. Coming up for election are Bill Parks, a grant hockey booster at Sutton; Jim Murray, town league proxy at Aurora, and Ralph Tucker, chairman of the Wilko Fund. Smooth Rock Falls in the far north endorsed Sunday sports by a whopping majority.

Blueline Banters: Rex Bailey, classy defenceman of last year's Aurora Bears, is performing for Oakville Junior "B" club and doing nicely. Red Mitchell has his Lindsay club out in front in the tough Eastern "B" circuit. Youngest player in junior "B" is Sonny Garner from Barrie, son of that good sportman, Bill Garner, who at 14 years of age is playing with Weston Dukes. Snatched from right under Hop Emma's nose too. Nap Holmes, readying a good club at St. Andrew's College. A game with Aurora Bears would be a mighty nice attraction for some charitable cause. St. Andrew's has another radiat basketball club, who are romping through preseason opposition with ease.

Bob Peters looked mighty keen in his first O.H.A. job of the season. "The Silent One" is about ready for some higher assignments by the O.H.A. Ron Simmons works well with him as linesman. Former O.H.A. players, other than from junior ranks, are now barred from participation in the senior series. This will strike a severe blow at clubs like Sutton West, Bradford, etc. Intermediate hockey is drawing good crowds at Stouffville arena with a six-team bush league of Stouffville, Pasches, Agincourt, Oakridge, Lansing and Riverdale Imperials. Plenty of familiar faces scattered through the playing rosters.

HASH

BY GEORGE HASKETT

Newmarket Sports Editor

Eddie Bush, local fans' choice "to get lost", came in with a bottle Thursday. "This," says Eddie boy, "is the stuff that will put your Spitties to sleep."

We got one peek at the smartly labelled "Secret Formula - Bush's Special". It looked harmless. In search of facts, this corner enquired particulars: "Do you drink it? - Smell it? Or apply it?"

"Listen bud," Eddie quips, "don't get nosy and don't smile. This stuff's dynamite - patent rights are worth a fortune. You watch it work tonight."

We did and so did 1,100 glum patrons. Eddie had his Blue Mountain juice under guard and whisked everybody out of the dressing room and his gestapo checked identity cards before it came in full view.

We didn't witness the unveiling of the magic potion but that's what we learned from the inner circle - jingos, it must have been a potent brew. Look what happened to our spits! Well, like the chappie says, one game don't make a hockey season. You can bet your boots Collingwood have hung their last 9 - 4 mark on our Spits.

Thursday's statistics didn't conceal the fact the Shipbuilders are improved over last year - leastwise that's the way it looked from our angle. Then again, the Spits were far below par in this, their initial outing in the Big Five campaign, and facts and figures from Saturday's northward jaunt bears this out.

Surprised to see Ross Hochberg on the Spits defense? Welcome as the flowers in spring, yes indeed. An O.H.A. gift. How come? you ask. Simple. Ross lives in Uxbridge. That's outside the metropolitan area. Stouffville only have rights to players inside the metropolitan area. Newmarket can't reach in.

And a jolly well welcome addition it we do say so. It makes the Spits defense corps one of the strongest - probably the strongest - in the Big Five with Al Shewchuk, Ross Hochberg, Jack Andrews, Bill McGhee and "Fink" Tunstead ready and willing to bounce the on-coming chargers.

Spits wore Pickering College rugby sweaters for the opener - new sweaters hadn't arrived. Those high figures like 22, 39 and 72 didn't bring 'em any goals it seems. Did look like they threw a few rugby blocks and more than held their own in the wrestling demonstrations - few left over from summer grappling campaign no doubt - as they went about getting the first game on record.

Now, this corner is as happy as the next one to see a little side-board scrimmaging - for cakes and cookies that is - but we can't cotton to the fans joining in. Eddie Bush was justifiably riled up about a lick on the chops he received - free gratis - from one fan.

May seem a lot of fun for the spectator to get in a few lifts at the opposition during the along-the-boards melees but players aren't usually expecting a nudge from the customers. It does little to add prestige to any team or arena.

Fact is, we recall a few years back when the O.H.A. read the riot act and closed down one Ontario rink for just this sort of thing because the fans couldn't be controlled or wouldn't be controlled. Voice your objections but leave the on-the-ice scrapping to the gladiators.

Didn't see any of the stuff - the magic brew that is - in evidence in the Aurora opener. Charlie Rowntree, Woodbridge's shrewd chicken rancher, hasn't lost his magic touch in getting the best out of junior hockey talent. Aurora Bears came through with a win before 600 pleased patrons. It was a peppy game and ended off at a torrid pace. Aurora fans had better wise up - there's going to be some fine hockey this winter and keep a weather eye on the Bears - they've got winning habits.

Election Returns: Congrats to sportsman Charlie VanZant on his re-election. Note Jimmy Murray, Aurora, has thrown his hat in the ring. Good luck sir.

Bears Tie Away

Aurora Bears hit the road on Tuesday. They were visitors to Nobleton for the latter's Junior D group opener. The Cross-Rowntree charges didn't come back with a win but did the next best thing, earning a 5-all tie in overtime.

The Bears protected a 4-2 advantage until the midway mark of the third. Keith Collings spearheaded Aurora's early attack with two goals. Grant Edwards and Bob Forhan were pay-dirt hitters for singles. At this stage an Aurora penalty parade hit hard.

Nobleton took advantage of man-power advantage to run in two quickies to tie it and force the teams into overtime. Joe Gasko racked up the all-important overtime counter that earned the Bears a division of the points after Nobleton pushed tie-breaker past Joe Burke in the early minutes of overtime session.

BEANUDA AIR TRIP DRAW AT INTERMISSION

Crawford Rose For Mayor Stew Patrick For Reeve Lorne Evans For Deputy

Disdainfully ignoring Mayor Bell's crude attack on his election pronouncement, published in last week's issue of Aurora News Page, Dr. Crawford Rose, candidate for the mayoralty of Aurora in 1952, elevated the tone of the nomination meeting to a high standard by a brilliant address which received great applause from his attentive hearers.

He surveyed hydro work and, in the limited time at his disposal, set out briefly a program calculated to restore good local government in Aurora. It is felt that by returning Dr. Crawford Rose as mayor of the town, Aurora will once again have a head of council who will give to it dignity, prestige, and experienced methods of handling business.

There has been a sharp recoil of public opinion in Aurora since nomination night, when a record audience was subjected to harangues of abuse and near-slandrous statements on the part of Mayor Bell and Reeve Cook. Many electors who formerly supported Bell and Cook, have now expressed their determination to work for the certain election of Dr. Rose, as a protest against the injury done to the reputation of Aurora's standard of fair play by the abusive attacks made on Aurora News Page and its editor by Mayor Bell and Reeve Cook.

Stew Patrick For Reeve

The decision of Mr. Stewart Patrick to oppose Reeve Cook has been received in Aurora with great popularity. Stew Patrick is a popular sporting figure as well as a keen and very successful business man. He was on council for a number of years and is thoroughly conversant with town affairs. He has a large business stake in the town and is a big taxpayer. Unlike Mr. Cook, he did not appeal his increased assessments.

Stew Patrick is a man who makes decisions and does not "sit on the fence." That is one important difference between himself and the present holder of the office of reeve. Mr. Patrick does not subscribe to a policy of dilly-dally, or handing a job on for someone else to do. He prefers action and his selection as reeve would give energy to the office. He is essentially a man's man and he is a good mixer. He has done a very great deal in promoting sport and has been the recipient of numerous testimonials in honor of his services.

It is generally felt that the time has come when Mr. Cook should go out of office with others of the "Old Gang" who are retiring this year, and make room for a successful candidate to fill his place. It is generally recognized that Mr. Cook as reeve has failed the town in 1951. Mr. Patrick's decision to oppose him is rapidly gaining in popularity.

Lorne P. Evans

In his brief address on nomination night, Deputy-Reeve Jas. Murray admitted that it had not been his intention to seek reelection this year; but gave no reasons why he had changed his mind. He further admitted that his business interests would suffer through another year in the office of deputy-reeve. In these circumstances, opinions have been expressed that it would be unfair to him to elect him to the office.

Mr. Evans' address greatly impressed the nomination meeting. It covered a wide range of practical proposals, and his declaration that he was firmly opposed to any further expenditure on the planning board's consultant was received with general applause by his listeners. He also pointed to the need of an independent assessment Court of Revision.

Voters who last year supported Mr. Murray are saying that such support will be given to Mr. Evans in this year's contest. Whatever influence has been brought on Murray to change his earlier decision to retire, it is felt that in fairness to him he should be allowed to carry out that decision in his business interests.

Mr. Lorne Evans has had wide municipal experience, which would be of great value to Aurora at this time, when planning board and other town costs should be reduced. His election would prove a popular choice.

COUNCIL REPORT

While Citizen Collects Mail He Also Gets Parking Ticket Six Appeals Municipal Board

A regular meeting of the town council was held in the council chamber on Monday night, December 3, with all members present. A highlight of the proceedings was the announcement that six leading industries and firms were appealing assessor E. R. Good's rulings to the municipal board.

Correspondence included a letter from the town solicitor advising council that the Inner Spring Mattress company was not disposed to sell any of its property, which had been under consideration for town uses.

Mr. W. A. Sutherland sent a letter protesting a parking ticket which, he alleged, had been issued while he called at the post office for his mail, and while he waited at the postal wicket. The writer said he had no objection to meters, but considered the method he complained of was going too far.

Appeal Municipal Board

The industries and firms proposing appeals to the municipal board in respect of their assessments are: Collis Leather, T. Sisman Shoe Company; Hart Manufacturing; Aurora Milling, Factory Equipment and Mr. A. Lorne Cousins.

Other Business

A report on parking meters is to be prepared by the town clerk.

Councillor Jones requested that better lighting be provided at the parking space, and that action be taken at once.

It was resolved that December 26 be proclaimed Boxing Day and a holiday.

Proposed extensions on Dunning Ave. be handed over to streets committee. Council adjourned at 10 p.m.

THURSDAY, THE SIXTH DAY OF DECEMBER, NINETEEN HUNDRED AND FIFTY-ONE

EDITORIALS

MAYOR'S VOTE DECIDED

The opportunity which the majority of the citizens of Aurora have asked for has now come. On Monday, December 10, they can choose a new Mayor for the year 1952, and we trust they will do so in no uncertain manner. It is our purpose in this editorial to show why we shall vote for, and in other ways support, Dr. Crawford Rose.

Let us say at once that we did not agree with Dr. Rose in regard to the substance of the controversy over the new hydro building. What we said then we would still say, without the alteration of a single word. Apart from our strong dislike of the appearance of the building, which is a matter of opinion, there are stronger reasons that it offended against the town building by-laws which ordinary citizens are called on to comply with.

However, the final word did not rest with hydro commissioner Dr. Rose. When the deciding vote was taken Mayor Bell had the last word. He could have cast his deciding vote with those who were insisting that the hydro be compelled to conform with the building by-laws. He did not do so. Instead of taking that course he cast his deciding vote along with the votes of Reeve Cook, Councillors Fielding, Gundy and Pringle.

As head of council Mayor Bell did not stand by the building by-laws he helped to put through in March, 1950. The hydro was a test, and he failed to pass the test. He did not give a lead to council. He voted against the very by-laws he had helped to make for other people. Had he cast his deciding vote with those who supported the building by-laws, the hydro building would have had to conform.

Having regard to these facts, which cannot be disputed, and the even more important fact that Mayor Bell was chairman of the building permits committee that granted a building permit to the hydro, he must accept the chief responsibility in the whole matter. In the final summing up the hydro building on Mosley street stands as it is today because of Mayor Bell's casting vote. The last word was his.

TIME FOR CHANGE

The time for a change at the head of the council chamber is long overdue. We need not repeat over again the many reasons we have given in past months why that change is necessary. During the past year there has been a continuing decline in council prestige, resulting chiefly from waste of time, and time spent on matters that have produced only vexatious controversy, such as planning board by-laws, and especially the contentious zoning by-law, not to mention the meters.

The truth is, people have begun to lose confidence in the usefulness of the town council. So much so that we have heard citizens say that the best thing that could happen would be for the council to go out of existence altogether. That is a truly deplorable state of mind, but it has been brought on through events of the present year.

The town council is vital to the people of Aurora. It is their local parliament and in the hands of good councillors great good for the town can come from it. But the first essential is a good head of council. The first essential is a man who can conduct the business of council with knowledge and understanding.

Here is what a member of the present council said to us after hearing that Dr. Crawford Rose was to be a candidate for the mayoral chair in 1952. We have great respect for the councillor who spoke these words, and these are his words: "I served under Dr. Rose for two years and he was a splendid chairman. I never expect to serve under a better. All members of council got their fair chance to say what they wanted to say. But Dr. Rose never wasted time. He understood the business of council, and could give guidance if and when it was needed. I would like to see him back again." We were very greatly influenced to support Dr. Rose by such words from an experienced member of council.

ELECT DR. ROSE MAYOR

Writing this article the day before nominations, we have to state that our personal knowledge of Dr. Crawford Rose is restricted to one long conversation we had with him, an interview given at our request. We sought clarification on certain points and we were fully satisfied. We told Dr. Rose that we would reflect on our conversation, since we never write in a hurry. We would also hear what he had to say at the nomination meeting.

The impressions we gathered from our talk with Dr. Rose were that he shares many of the views that have been expressed in Aurora News Pages in regard to the waste of money on planning board consultations, though he is in favor of a planning board whose purpose would be purely advisory to council. He believes, as we believe, in the supremacy of the town council as the chief executive authority, and is strongly opposed to the zoning by-law now before council.

Dr. Rose is a believer in the fullest freedom of the press, and holds the sensible view that it should have access to Hydro, High and Public school business, since these are all parts of the local economy.

The election of Dr. Crawford Rose to the office of Mayor would give vigor and buoyancy to town affairs. He would restore to that office a dignity it has lost in recent years. While this newspaper will at all times express its own independent views, whoever is Mayor of the town of Aurora, we urge all voters to return Dr. Rose as Mayor for 1952. Give him and the new council confidence through a record vote.

NOMINATION NIGHT

Mayor Bell And Reeve Cook Lambast Aurora News Editor And The Victim Gives Reply

The Mechanics' Hall was crowded to capacity on Friday night, November 30, for the municipal nominations. This was the same hall that council resolved to sell or rent to industry, in January of this present year, and it was so advertised for two weeks. It will always be a proud memory for us that through our newspaper crusade we aroused public opinion in Aurora and saved the hall for the use of the citizens. But for that newspaper crusade Aurora would not have a Community Hall today.

After the nominations were few months. While that is concluded, Mayor Bell came up on to the stage. He spent little time in defending either his past work or outlining a program for the future. He mentioned meters, but gave no statement on them. He referred to an editorial of ours concerning Mr. William Large and stated that he resigned. Mr. Large did resign; but that was not the end of the story.

The end came suddenly on the morning of Tuesday, January 16, 1951, when Mr. Large was relieved of his positions as assistant town clerk and secretary-treasurer to the Aurora hydro commission. Three men were concerned in relieving Mr. Large of the positions he had successfully held for a number of years. They were Mr. George Baldwin, chairman of the hydro commission, Mayor Bell and Reeve Cook.

It seems a pity that since Mayor Bell told his audience that Mr. Large had resigned that he did not go on from there and say how the resignation had been rescinded by council on January 15, 1951, and how matters stood on the morning of January 16, 1951, when Mr. Large was relieved of his jobs. Had Mayor Bell told the whole story his listeners might have drawn a sharp breath.

It was a matter of deep regret to us that as we were not the owner or the publisher of the Aurora Banner, but only a contributor, we could not publish the complete story. We felt then that this old-time trustworthy town employee did not, in all the circumstances, get a square deal, and we still think that.

Lambasting Us!

It was obvious, however, that Mayor Bell was thirsting to get on with another job dearer to his heart and of greater solace to his wounded pride. Mayor Bell likes being mayor of the town. And we have dared to criticize him! Why have we criticised him? Certainly not for personal reasons, since we have no interest whatever in Mr. Bell as a private individual.

It has been our business to observe Mayor Bell on council work for a period of almost two years. Regrettably we have to state that he is the least competent occupant of a mayoral chair we have ever known. There must always be a better and a worse. One must judge these matters from the record. All the major questions Mayor Bell has handled in the past two years have produced intense divisions of public opinion in Aurora. None more so than planning board by-laws, the hydro and the meters.

It has been our job to write detailed, impartial accounts of the Aurora council, so that the citizens would know what was going on. We have hidden nothing. We have told the citizens all that we knew of council work. As an editor we have examined council work, pointing out to our readers defects as we saw them. This apparently has often offended him. The sales of our newspaper have also increased rapidly during the past tangible proof of the confidence that readers have in our sincerity, it may not please Mayor Bell.

So on Friday evening he started out to lambast us. He dragged in every little episode, real and imaginary, that he fancied could build up a case against us. He even brought in some ragged recollections of an address we gave to the Aurora Lions club in April last and got it hopelessly mixed up.

He Did It Himself!

A more pitiable exhibition we have not seen or heard in many years. His emotion overcame such powers of reasoning as are peculiarly his own, so that his voice sometimes rose to a soprano tempo. "Of course I own the Banner," he added facetiously, "but haven't seen any profits yet." We never said he owned the Banner; on good authority we suggested that he was a part-owner. That he did not deny, nor does it matter. For the Banner is only the Banner and nothing more.

The Mayor of Aurora did not take time out to tell his interested listeners what achievements he had accomplished. There were apparently none to record. He spoke not one word about a future program. Presumably he has none but the zoning by-law and even that is not his. All he will do is help to pass it if he remains mayor. His vociferations were pitiable in the extreme. It was a truly painful exhibition. But the people of Aurora gathered in the Mechanics' hall did have a full opportunity of sizing up their present mayor. He did it himself.

We did not begrudge him his little lambasting excursion. Mayor Bell did not harm us. He harmed only himself. If Mr. Bell suffered an injury to his reputation he has only himself to blame. It was he who did it, all by himself.

"Such Childish Writing"

Next to the stage came Reeve Cook, brief case in hand. He did not have anything to say this year on becoming warden of York county. No doubt he realizes it wasn't worth while. No use whipping an old dead horse. He hadn't much to say on anything else except us. Then there was blood in his eye! He was out for the kill and Banner reporters got very busy.

With his papers on the podium, like a minister preaching his farewell sermon, Reeve Cook read a few lines and then broke down. He had missed the line and it took him some time to find it again. We thought he might be looking for some figures to enlighten his audience on why he was able to get $10,000 knocked off an assessment on one of his properties. But he didn't say one word about it.

It was ourselves he was after. He would like to have killed our News Pages, full of "such childish writings." Even Dr. Malcolm the squirrel suffered a blast. He lapsed and lapsed and lapsed rapidly during the past

Minutes Incorrect

Aurora News Page calls the attention of Mayor Bell and members of council present at its 31st meeting held on November 5, 1951, to the fact that the minutes of that meeting are not correct, although they were approved by council on Monday night, December 3.

On November 5, 1951, Mr. W. E. Kerr represented a delegation which appeared before council requesting the removal of the press ban imposed by Mayor Bell. The delegation's request proved successful, following a lengthy debate in which all members of council present took part.

No mention whatever is made of such a delegation or its outcome in the minutes. There is consequently no record of that important event, and the minutes are not in order and should not have been approved.

THURSDAY, THE SIXTH DAY OF DECEMBER, NINETEEN HUNDRED AND FIFTY-ONE

REPORT AND COMMENT

Panel Of Council Candidates Six Seats Need Being Filled W. E. Kerr For Hydro Commr.

Never in the long civic history of Aurora have there been such crowds, and such intense interest shown, at a nomination meeting as on Friday night, November 30. The newly-decorated Mechanics' Hall was filled to capacity, with large numbers of people standing throughout the proceedings. The bitter attacks on Aurora News Pages and its editor by Mayor Bell and Reeve Cook were applauded by some of their supporters and received by some boos and cries of "sit down" in other parts of the hall.

So great was the interest shown in the elections, promoted by the detailed reporting of council matters in Aurora News Pages, that nominations for the council, hydro commission, and the public school board were of record proportions. There were 13 nominations for the six council seats; five nominations for two hydro vacancies; and eight nominations for three appointments to the public school board.

For the office of mayor, four nominations were made; three for the reeve; and two for deputy-reeve. Withdrawals reduced these numbers to two contestants for the mayoral chair, namely, the present mayor, Alex Bell and Dr. Crawford Rose, who was Mayor of Aurora in the years 1948-49.

For the reeve'ship the contest will be between the present holder of the office, A. A. Cook, and a former member of council and well-known business man and townsman, Stew Patrick. For the office of deputy-reeve Mr. Lorne P. Evans will oppose Mr. James Murray, who has been deputy-reeve during 1951.

Councillors Davies, Gundy and Pringle announced that they would not be candidates for any office in the present elections.

Out Of The Gutter!

After the audience had been rescued from the gutter of abuse into which it had been unexpectedly drawn by Mayor Bell and Reeve Cook, some interesting speeches followed. None was better than the all-too-brief address of veteran councillor Jones. His description of the meters as "mechanical thieves" brought applause, as did his declared opposition to the passing into law of the zoning by-law and any further costs to an out-of-town consultant. He ridiculed the zoning map which he said was no more than a map in color of the town as it stands.

Mr. Jones said he was in favor of town planning but was opposed to the system which had been in operation. He presented a fine schedule of work accomplished by the town property committee of which he is chairman. He is still definitely opposed to meters and to the hydro building "being left on the street," some eight inches, more or less.

Councillor Corbett, chairman of the Fire and Water Dept., gave an excellent account of his department, urging that the town should have another reservoir. Mr. Corbett paid the highest tribute to the town Fire Brigade, saying it was a great credit to the town.

Mr. D. J. Murray, son of the popular Archie Murray, for so many years proprietor of the Queen's hotel and former member of town council, made one of the most impressive speeches of the evening. He was speaking as a candidate for council and the applause which greeted his remarks was a fine augury for his election. We hope the electors will put him high up in the polls, for his address gave evidence of a clear understanding of urgent town problems. He paid tribute to his father, to whom he said he was deeply indebted for an understanding of council procedure.

Other Candidates
Dale King, the youngest of the candidates and who is a master at St. Andrew's college, made an excellent impression on his listeners. He is the son of a well-known family, his father, the late W. C. King, was manager of the Bank of Montreal in Aurora for several years, and his mother owns the antique store on Yonge St.

We believe Dale King will make an excellent member of council. While at McGill university he was vice-president of a council of 1,500 veterans. We hope to see him elected on Monday, Dec. 10.

Clarence Davis, nominated for council, was unable through another appointment to stay after nomination, and the audience did not hear an address from him. We know, however, that he is definitely opposed to the further expenditure of money on planning board work, and is intent on keeping down town expenses if elected to council.

Mr. Davis is a member of one of Aurora's oldest families, and both his father and grand-father were members of Aurora's town councils. He is so well-known as a business man in town that his reputation carries its own recommendation to the electors. He would make an excellent member of council.

Mr. Ralph Tucker, as we have previously mentioned, missed victory by only 22 votes last year. He should easily make the grade this year. With his wide and responsible business experience, he would bring to council valuable training for local civic problems. We hope the electors will give Mr. Tucker the opportunity he is seeking to serve the town which is his home.

W. E. Kerr For Hydro
For the hydro commission we strongly recommend to the electors the choice of Mr. W. E. Kerr, an able business man of long experience, and whose name became widely known to the citizens of Aurora through his successful appeal to get Mayor Bell's ban on the freedom of the press removed.

He would bring an impartial judgment to bear on hydro matters. If elected he would support the taxpayers being informed on everything their local hydro is doing through the press, and that would be something chairman Mr. George Baldwin has opposed for years. Mr. Baldwin wants to keep the press out; Mr. Kerr wants the press in, so that the people will know what is going on inside the building where their taxes are paid.

There was a "bad smell" in January of this year, caused by goings-on at the hydro, when Mr. William Large was relieved of his duties as secretary-treasurer, positions now held by the superintendent. If the press had sat in on the enquiries the people would have known what was going on. Mr. Baldwin opposed the press sitting in. So the Aurora citizens are still very much in the dark on what really happened.

If elected as a hydro commissioner, Mr. W. E. Kerr would cure all that, for he is in favor of the people knowing what is going on at the hydro. For such reasons we shall vote for Mr. Kerr and strongly urge other electors to do the same.

As for Mr. Baldwin he did not know at Friday night's meeting if he were still a member of the hydro commission! But he was sure on this: He would be back again if possible. We never did believe he intended to resign; now we know. The threats of resignation were eyewash, or, as some people would say, just plain bluff.

The pelt of the beaver—Canada's national emblem—was once a form of currency in Canada.

"LIONS DEN"

Don Glass Asserts That Banner Report Is Wrong

In its issue of last week the Aurora Banner reported a discussion at the Aurora Lions club in which an Aurora News Page editorial was a principal subject of comment. The editorial quoted the remark of a well-known Aurora lady to the effect that if the club re-named the Mechanics' hall the "Lions Den" it would sound like the name of a "cocktail bar." The editorial paid tribute to the work of the club.

The Aurora Banner reported Mr. Glass as saying that "it's an utter disgrace that any editor would associate the phrase, 'cocktail bar' with this hall."

After we had been approached by a member of the Lions club, who said he had not forgotten the good publicity work we had formerly done for the Aurora Lions, and that he was disturbed by the report and the words which he did not think Don Glass had used, we called Mr. Glass personally.

Mr. Glass said that while he thought that poor judgment had been used in using the words "cocktail bar" as a headline, he liked what we had written in tribute to the work of the Lions, and added that he had not used the foregoing words in the connection reported by the Banner. He also stated that a speech he had made at the recent dinner of the Recreation Commission, of which he is the chairman, was also incorrectly reported by the Banner.

Mr. Glass stated that he had pointed out the latter erroneous report to the Banner, and a promise had been made that it would be corrected. No such correction, however, had so far appeared.

It is due to Mr. Glass, and to Aurora News Page, that his disclaimer should be made public.

Kennedy St. Sewer Report Subject Of Telephone Call

On Monday morning, December 3, Councillor Fielding called Aurora News Page to complain of the wording of the first paragraph in our column of last week entitled "Council Highlights." In our issue of November 22 we reported a motion moved by Councillor Gundy, seconded by Councillor Fielding, that a sanitary sewer be put in on Kennedy street west, as petitioned for, at cost to property owners under local improvement act.

That was correct. However, in the above-mentioned column of November 29 it was stated that "by a majority vote council passed a motion in their favor, namely, the Kennedy street petitioners." This inadvertence was the subject of Councillor Fielding's telephone call to Aurora News Page, and we immediately stated that we would correct the matter to Councillor Fielding's own wording as follows: "The Kennedy street people will get their sewers in on exactly the same basis as everyone else in Aurora."

Councillor Fielding told us quite bluntly that unless the correction were made that she intended to make an issue of it at the council meeting that evening. We replied that we were only too ready to make any necessary correction at any time, and that we would certainly put her statement into this week's issue of Aurora News Page. Councillor Fielding thanked us and said she was perfectly satisfied.

We did, in fact, make a further telephone call to Councillor Fielding at her home on Monday afternoon to state that we had checked on our report in our issue of November 22, and the report was correct, and Councillor Fielding acknowledged that was correct, and added that the acknowledgment we had promised in this week's issue would close the matter and that she accepted our assurances.

Something important you should know about your husband

You know him better than anyone else in the world. You know his bad points as well as his good ones. But one of his best points may have escaped your notice.

You know that he doesn't do many of the things he'd like to do with his money—because the family income will only go so far. And you know that he might reasonably spend money freely now—without a thought for your future. But he doesn't.

Regularly, he puts aside money to give you the protection of life insurance. True, he may gain benefit from that insurance during his own life, but that isn't why he owns it. The real reason can be found in his concern for your welfare.

Do you co-operate with his efforts to provide for you in this important way? Are you encouraging his habit of thrift?

Right now, it's more important than ever to save money. For every dollar put aside for the future helps to check inflation... helps to protect the value of all your money.

So check over your budget. See what new savings you can make!

basted us. He was so bitter that the words were sour as they came over the air. He was down from the fence for once in his life. He grumbled as he formerly grumbled Assessor E. R. Good, who had dared to raise his assessments. "Such childish writing," hissed the kindly reeve.

Better Go To Bed!

We wish he had gone on and on. He wasn't hurting us. We could take it. Reeve Cook couldn't. He squirms under criticism. "Public men who can't take criticism should go to bed and stay there," said Winston Churchill. So Reeve Cook had better go to bed. "When criticism ends, freedom dies," said Mr. John G. Diefenbaker. Mr. Cook should ponder those two adages.

If Reeve Cook could be as sure on council matters as he was sure that people shouldn't read our paper, he might get somewhere. The people in Aurora think differently however. They know that in our newspaper they will get the council facts.

We have not pandered to Reeve Cook. We have expressed the opinion that he is of no use to Aurora as a member of council. We repeat that opinion. His harangue on Friday night proved it.

It was the Reeve of the town who was blasting us. He couldn't take it. So he tried hard to smear our "childish writings." The result was that by Saturday evening there were not a dozen copies of our newspaper on the new-stands in Aurora. There were only little heaps of Banners. Thank you, Reeve Cook, for your excellent publicity work on our behalf.

"Such childish writings." For Reeve Cook's advance information, we hear that the Dr. Malcolm Court of Revision is at present in session, hearing assessment appeals in Squirrel Town. If any one of the appellants obtains a reduction of 10,000 nuts it will doubtless be reported to Capt. Eavesdropper's paper, "The Searchlight."

Meanwhile, we thank Reeve Cook for his gracious speech, given in such a gracious manner, in the Mechanics' hall on Friday night, November 30.

FOR HYDRO COMMISSION

EVERETT KERR

To the Electors of Aurora
AURORA HYDRO COMMISSION

At the request of citizens, and because I am deeply interested as a tax-paying citizen in the affairs of the town, I am offering my services as a Hydro Commissioner.

If elected for this office it will be my purpose to keep the citizens informed on every phase of its work. There appears to be an idea held in some quarters that the Aurora hydro should be conducted as a private business. This is wrong. The Aurora hydro is maintained by the taxpayers, and if elected I shall ask for the attendance of the press to report all meetings for the information of the taxpayers.

With the financial and business experience I have gained through my association with The Toronto Stock Exchange during the past twenty-four years, I am confident I can be of service to my fellow-taxpayers as a member of the Aurora Hydro Commission, and respectfully ask for your support on Monday, December 10.

To the Electors of Aurora

Once again I am offering my services to the citizens of Aurora, and respectfully ask your support in electing me to council.

During the five years I have served you I have tried at all times to promote the best interests of the town as a whole.

I am strongly opposed to any more money being spent on the planning board; and I shall oppose the passing into law of the zoning by-law now before the council.

I shall, if elected, stand for the authority of the town council, which is elected by the people for the people.

It would be my purpose to keep down expenses, and especially to have more information given to the public on the town hydro. I am also opposed to the meters.

If you agree that I shall always have the best interests of our Town at heart;

In short, if you think that I was, and still can be, a good mayor, then I solicit your vote and influence—

The Story Of SHARON

By

ETHEL WILLSON TREWHELLA

This is the twenty-sixth instalment of a continuing "Story of Sharon" from its founding to the present. The story was written after almost two years of research and will, we believe, be a major contribution to knowledge of the past. The remaining instalments will follow weekly.

The Uprising

Further from this history the author relates that "the two men who died from their wounds were James Kavanagh and Edgar Stiles, both from the township of East Gwillimbury. Kavanagh's son, John, later became postmaster at Sharon. These men were conveyed to Montgomery's and later to hospital where they died. George Fletcher, a nephew of Stiles', was shot in the left foot. The bullet was finally cut out by Judah Lundy who still resides in Sharon."

York was in a state of great excitement. Prisoners from North York were kept for three weeks in the market building. Meanwhile the trials continued. North Yorkers later were transferred to the gaol, 53 persons obliged to occupy one small room.

William Reid with John Montgomery, were the first to kick the boards from the windows in protest of the unsanitary conditions. John Reid developed smallpox and was removed to hospital. Willson Reid was transferred to Kingston but escaped. Jacob Lundy took part in the skirmish on Yonge Street, also in the bush fight on December 10. He was taken prisoner at Gallow's Hill ambush, but was released by the Lieutenant Governor, in hope that he would turn state witness. Alexander McLeod was sentenced to banishment for life to Van Diemen's Land, but died enroute. Joseph Brammer was the only prisoner to bring away from the gaol the document, Bill of Indictment.

When the grand jury brought in a true bill against him he said: "Your Lordship, I am an Englishman. I have a heart as true and loyal to the Queen and to Britain as any British subject in the country, but if you mean disloyal to the Family Compact and the men who are robbing the country, I am guilty!" He was never tried.

Those from Sharon who actively opposed the Compact, in so far as found, are: John Reid, William Reid, Willson Reid, Alexander Reid, Joseph Brammer, John Brammer, Ebenezer Doan, Charles Doan, Jesse Doan, Jonathan Doan, Hugh D. Willson, John D. Willson, David Willson, John Graham, Jeremiah Graham, William Graham, Adam Graham, Judah Lundy, Jacob Lundy, Reuben Lundy, Edgar Stiles, John Kavanagh, George Fletcher, Alexander McLeod, Joel Lloyd, Peter Rowen, Richard Graham, Robert Moore, George Y. Moore; these two latter were from Queensville.

The Charges
The weary hours in gaol were frequently shortened by the music of Joseph Brammer's clarinet and Hugh D. Willson's violin, both members of the Sharon band. The charges for which they were arrested were: "Being moved and seduced by the instigation of the devil as false traitors against our Sovereign Lady, the Queen, did unlawfully, maliciously and traitorously assemble to the number of 500 persons, armed

"On my way south I went into the tavern of Hiram Moore's on Tory Hill, and asked the landlady if she understood the movement. She replied, 'Yes, they are going to take Toronto. I knew it several days since.' I asked, 'Why did you not tell me?' 'I was told not to do so,' was the reply.

News To Newmarket
"When she told me that, I immediately went across to the Landing, and on my way met Sam Swensy, whom I asked if he understood the movement. He replied, 'Yes, they are going to take Toronto, rob the bank, hang the Governor and when they come back they will hang you!' I then went on to the Landing, a note to Captain Langhorne and the Playters, my brother Alfred and two or three others who had heard something about the stir but of the particulars. Someone went to Bradford to spread the news and I went to Newmarket.

"From Newmarket I went home by way of the Selby's, and found William and John ready to do all they could. My son, David, was a sergeant and I sent him to warn those still at home to turn out. I also went myself to a number, but could find none but James Evans. I was then a lieutenant and my brother, John, a captain in East Gwillimbury. My son, David, went to Birchardtown (Mount Albert) settlement to warn men to turn out in defence of the government."

Mutual Defence
In a lengthy description of those troubled times in Sharon, Titus Willson relates that arms were scarce—either in the hands of the rebels or hidden so that the government could not find them. Those from the Landing and Bradford joined those from Newmarket at McLeod's Inn (they took this over) near Aurora. Some 15 or 20 about the Landing and Sharon joined and formed a company for mutual defence. Continuing, he says: "I was sent with despatches to Colonel Carthew at Newmarket, and that night I went with a strong party to Sharon, where we captured some 30 or 40 of those who were implicated in the Rebellion and sent them to Toronto. For three or four days I was at Newmarket attending to the guards, as we had a number of prisoners in the Baptist Meeting House.

"I was next ordered to go to where Collingwood now stands to look for Lount, who was said to be there at a lonely house of one John Bralster. Mr. Eli Beaman was to go with me. We started and got as far as Bradford when a man was sent after us with the report that Lount and arrayed in a war-like manner, attempt and endeavor, by force of arms, to raise insurrection and rebellion to subvert and destroy the Constitution of this Province, contrary to the duty of their allegiance and against the peace of our Lady, the Queen, her Crown and Dignity."

Canadian Militia
The Canadian militia from this upper part of the county, which made a gesture to assist the government, knew no more about military manoeuvres than those angry, frustrated, desperate and determined farmers and mechanics from East Gwillimbury. A description of them has been gleaned as they gathered at Bradford where not one third of them had arms; and "those that were armed had nothing but pitchforks, rusty swords, dilapidated guns, pikes with an occasional bayonet on the end of a pole."

These persons, without the least authority of law, set about a disarming process. "When they began their march down Yonge St. they included about 150 Indians with painted faces and savage looks. These grotesque-looking militiamen made prisoner every man who could not give an account of himself, and when they marched into York they were about as motley a collection as it would be possible to conceive."

Titus Willson, of early Sharon, relates in a manuscript recently published that "In the fall of 1837 the political horizon looked rather squally. The Rads were holding frequent meetings in different parts of the country—that is the disaffected part of them and that was by far the largest part of York County.

JACK SMITH WRITES

Ottawa Letter

A weekly letter from the member of parliament for York North.

I refrained from sending my Ottawa letter in recent weeks for two reasons. I appreciate that during a provincial election weekly newspaper publishers are hard pressed for valuable space, and I did not want to presume on the good nature of my fellow-publishers who are good enough to give regular space to these weekly reports.

Secondly, a provincial election was being fought and I had no desire in any way to be open to the charge that these reports are in any way political. I have endeavored to make my weekly letters informative rather than political and this will continue to be my policy.

However, the election now is over and I think we all should heed the words of Premier Frost who said the duty of all now is to unite and work for the good of the province and Canada.

The people of Ontario have elected a government and your government here at Ottawa accepts that verdict and will gladly work with your elected representatives in any matters pertaining to the province and Dominion.

Here in North York, I extend congratulations to the elected representative Major Lex Mackenzie. In all matters pertaining to the good and welfare of North York I will be most happy to co-operate with him to the fullest extent in the future as I have in the past.

Old Age Pensions
I receive many representations and complaints about the difficulties of applicants for pension in providing proof of age.

In individual cases this concern is understandable, but I wish to assure everyone that every assistance will be given to those who do not have birth certificates or other proof of birth.

I know you will appreciate the position of the government charged with the responsibility of administering the Act. The government wants the new Act administered humanely, but it must insist too that it be efficiently administered.

Every precaution must be taken against fraud and I learned from the department of health and welfare that already many hundred cases of attempted fraud have been discovered.

The government must insist on proof of age. Every help will be given by myself and the department to those who may experience difficulty, and in time I am sure all cases can be solved satisfactorily. Every facility including our census records will be made available.

I am happy to report that already applications of 70% of eligible recipients have been approved, and I am confident that had been taken."

William Selby
Mrs. Mary Selby Kneeshaw of Bradford has contributed some interesting items of the part played by the Selby's in those days of anxiety. "William Selby was a colonel in the Royal forces during the Rebellion of 1837. He had to collect all the firearms of the rebels in the neighborhood. Once when the rebels came to his house where he had some ammunition and guns stored, he was all alone with some of the family and a young boy. He halted the rebels and said, 'I have a gun to match every one of yours and hands to fire them.' The rebels retreated after a few shots. With the aid of the boy he loaded the guns and ammunition on to a wagon and drove all night to the garrison at Muddy York. It is this William Selby's portrait which hangs in the Temple."

In so far as can be found the names of those from East Gwillimbury who were on the Government side were: Henry Fry, William and John Selby, David T. Willson, George Sullinger, Titus Willson. They were badly armed with a few guns, a walking stick, an umbrella, a butcher's cleaver, a bill hook and a tremendous butcher knife.

No Memorial
Washed by Lake Ontario on the south and by Lake Simcoe on the north, lies the fruitful land which could rightly be called the Rannymede of Canada, and the extraordinary township of East Gwillimbury is rich in the unique historic evidence of the birth of Canada's Magna Charta, that fundamental constitution which guarantees the rights and privileges of the present day; yet no tangible memorial exists around Sharon or Holland Landing to those rugged souls, patriot or rebel, who were largely the means of bringing it about. Still extant is a letter written at Hope, Jan. 20, 1830, by Samuel Hughes to his sister: "... The political state of the country seems very uncertain, and no one knows how to realize the worth of either his liberty or property, ... a commissioner from Lord Durham was in our village last night and speaks of a speedy settlement of the matter."

An American tourist, visiting York County in 1900, returned some pertinent remarks on the indifference displayed by Canadians to the magnificent heritage which is part and parcel of the community.

We were the guest on Friday night of the Newmarket Rod and Gun club at the club's annual banquet, and a thoroughly enjoyable time we had. The banquet hall at the King George Hotel was filled with the club members and their wives and guests. We had a turkey dinner and it was lovely.

It was an informal gathering with the talk on fishing and hunting echoing the length of the tables. Albert Higginson is president of the club and acted as master of ceremonies in the brief program which followed the clearing of the dishes.

One highlight was the presentation of a bowl of fruit to Mrs. Bert Morrison who had been hostess to the club members at the Morrison cottage on the Jersey last summer. "A small token of our appreciation for the manner in which you looked after us," said Mr. Higginson.

He was somewhat bowled over when a few minutes later, Bert Morrison, rising to thank the club for its gift to his wife, made in turn a presentation to Mr. Higginson of a framed painting of the Jersey with the verse, "Just Fishin'", printed beside it.

With the picture went a colorful sports shirt so that Albert could be identified out on the water.

The address by S. A. Barnes of the conservation branch of the department of planning and development was short and to the point. He described how conservation authorities are established and what is expected of them.

"Water is the most important of all our resources," he said. "Each adult uses about a half gallon a day and the per capita use of water in Ontario runs about a thousand gallons a person a day."

Mr. Barnes is a tall, engaging sort of speaker and he led off with a speaker's joke, different from the usual approach because it evoked a roar of appreciative laughter. It concerned a duck which was decoyed down on the water and as it swam towards the decoy, it saw the barrels of a shotgun protruding from the blind. Straightway, it went under the water as the gun roared. When it came up, the air was full of splinters from the decoy. "Aha," says the duck, "wooden duck, eh?"

The conservation officers from the department of lands and forests showed several wild-life films to bring the evening to a close.

We sat beside B.L. Denne, lately home from Korea, at an Optimist club banquet Tuesday night. Bill spoke to the club members and their guests, the baseball team which reached the Ontario finals this year.

He told something of his experiences in Korea and answered a number of questions from the floor. We were particularly impressed by his estimation of the Chinese soldier. "One of the very best. He's not so good close in but he's tops from a distance," he said.

The life of an infant pig is somewhat hazardous to say the least. He's got to fight for his place at the dinner table; he may be tramped or rolled upon by his mother. Some sows even eat their young so if a pig survives its first few days, it's as much a matter of luck as anything.

This condition is, of course, a matter for concern among the hog producers but there hasn't been much they could do about it except to protect the young with barriers and so on. The problem has occupied the attention of a firm in the States which believes it has solved it by providing a row of bottles with rubber nipples and filled with synthetic sow's milk spiked with the antibiotic, terramycin.

Seems to be working out for the drug company although the U.S. department of agriculture is somewhat sceptical. For one thing, pigs are sound sleepers and awakened only by the sound from the sow as she settles down to feed them. The drug people made recordings of this sound and then played it over a gramophone. This awakened most of the pigs and their squeals awakened the others.

The government doesn't think that in the doubtful acoustics of a barn that this would be too reliable. The department fears too that taking the piglets away from the sows would have a disturbing psychological effect upon both pigs and sows.

Still and all, the method seems to have its points. Of 3,000 pigs so raised, only five percent died compared to a normal mortality rate of around 20 to 30 percent.

SHOULD CONTEST
TOP THREE COUNCIL OFFICES

It is a matter for regret that the mayor, reeve and deputy were acclaimed again this year in Newmarket. We believe the three men will agree that it would have been a more healthy indication of public interest had they been challenged by other candidates.

We say this, not in any particular criticism of their terms of office, but in the interest of maintaining a lively concern for public affairs. The three were acclaimed last year. The reeve and mayor have been acclaimed before that. This habitual affirmation in office is not sound practice.

There were four new contenders for council seats. We wonder why there were no contenders for the top three offices. Acclamation suggests unanimous approval. From what we have heard on Main St., there is far from unanimous approval of the policies of these three. Why, then, do not those who disapprove challenge these men at nomination?

We wonder too why some of the older councillors have not attempted to move up by seeking one of the three offices. That would be the logical step. In Newmarket council, however, promotion from councillor to higher office has more frequently followed the retirement of one of the top men rather than as a result of a challenge from the ranks.

Acclamation is most frequently accepted as a vote of confidence, but when acclamation becomes habitual, it is only an indication of public apathy. We feel it is unfair to the men involved as well as revealing a weakness in our interest in public affairs.

LESSON FROM THE POLL

The heavy vote polled by Mr. Charles Boyd in his first try for council, and that polled by Mrs. Violet Robinson MacNaughton in her second try seem to us an indication that the citizens definitely want fresh blood in council. The fact that Mr. Boyd polled a record vote to lead the polls and that Mrs. MacNaughton, who ran second, was well ahead of the next council candidate emphasize this conclusion.

We contended last week that last year's council had been adequate to the tasks it had undertaken, and they were many, but it offered no more than this. The vote seems to bear this out. The citizens have a right to expect more than simply administrative ability and they didn't get it from last year's council. There was little or nothing that suggested the kind of imaginative leadership the town requires.

It is interesting too to note that while the two new council members replaced two councillors of long experience and with reputations for hard work, there is nothing to indicate that the voters were specially censuring them. The vote showed a definite preference for the newcomers but it did not show any particular rejection of Messrs. Bowser and Birrell. They were simply squeezed out in the general vote.

We hope the new council will accept this judgment and devote more of their time to the consideration of Newmarket's future and less of their time to detail which can be taken care of by town employees. Newmarket has an efficient clerk, a town engineer, and town employees to look after details. The council's purpose is to establish policy and give leadership.

Possibly, there was no choice for last year's council since it was confronted with numerous tasks which rightly should have been spread over the years. But whether this is true, it does remain a fact that the council contributed very little that showed bold and imaginative leadership, and Newmarket must have that leadership if it is to prosper.

REASON FOR MILK INCREASES

Milk producers in this district have been vainly seeking an increase in the price paid them by the distributors for the past six months. They have been strongly opposed politically and by consumer groups because the price they ask would increase the cost of milk to the consumer by one cent.

In the dispute which has flared through the summer months and into the fall, a good deal of misleading and mistaken statements have been made on behalf of those opposing the increase. We quote here a few facts which show the increase would be justified.

From the producers' point of view, the increase is required to pay increased costs of production. Farm labor costs have increased 181 percent in the ten years since 1941. Feed costs have increased 82 percent. Prices to the milk producers have increased only 72 percent during the same period.

From the consumers' point of view, a cent a quart increase in milk is by no means high when taken in relation with other food costs. Milk was a little higher than an average of all foods, and not quite as costly as meats and eggs in 1941. In 1951, milk prices on the cost of living index are 213.4 while all foods average at 251.5 and meats and eggs average at 354.9.

Or to put it another way, in 1939, the average man worked 15.6 minutes to buy a quart of milk and in 1951, he worked 10.1 minutes.

Milk prices must be considered too in relation to the national agricultural economy. Because of poor milk prices, producers have been selling their herds. The cow population in Canada has decreased by 2.4 percent and the human population has increased by 21.6 percent. In 1941 the per capita consumption of milk was 1,438 lbs. In 1951, it is 1,174 lbs. If the cow population continues to decrease while the human population continues to increase, there will be serious shortages of milk in Canada. That will mean that the cost of milk will soar far above what it is ever likely to be as long as Canadian dairy farmers are encouraged to maintain enough production for domestic use.

In confirmation of the facts on milk production and prices quoted above, the minister for agriculture, Hon. T. L. Kennedy, said this week that the producers should be receiving $5 a hundredweight for their milk and that milk should be selling at 24 cents a quart in Toronto. He was answering the protests of the mayors of Ontario centres who are protesting increases to the producers which will raise the price to the consumer 21 and 22 cents.

As welcome as the statement is to the producers who are sorely in need of such support, its publication now illustrates the difficulties under which producers must market their milk. Indeed, there is no producer or manufacturer who must contend with so many frustrations in selling his product as the milk producer. And when these frustrations include politics, it is too much to ask that the producers retain their patience.

The producers have been negotiating for a new price for their milk for over six months. The issue is still unsettled as we write because of a series of obstacles, none of which had anything to do with the merits of their requirements. The producers feel that the price of milk should be determined by cost of production. But into their bargaining was injected the politics of civic and provincial representatives, the pressure of organized labor, and the obstinacy of the dairies.

Even the council of Newmarket joined the game despite the fact that the members, admittedly, were not sure of the merits of the producers' claims. The council passed a resolution against a further increase in the price of milk some days ago.

Now, with the milk control board about to announce new prices or confirm the old, these frustrations are past history but their effect remains. For should the producers receive the price they ask, it will give them only a small percentage of the benefit they originally sought. During the past six months, cost of production has continued to increase. What the producers wanted six months ago is no longer adequate.

What it all adds up to is the complete discouragement of producers in one of Canada's basic industries. That discouragement is being shown already in the failure of producers to maintain their herds on a level with population increases. Eventually there will be a serious shortage of milk and dairy products. When this happens, cost of those products will have risen so far beyond their present level that what the consumers are saved now by not paying a fair price will amount to peanuts compared to their future food bill.

EDITORIAL NOTES

A small boy of about four climbed on a chair at a Main Street soda fountain, but did not place an order. "I'm just tired," he said wearily, "I'm going to have a rest."

Student teachers from Toronto Normal School are in the district at present. The city girls scream very much, it is said, when a mouse jumps out of the chalk box.

The former Clerk's office, Main and Botsford, is now a musical centre, with the concert series campaign headquarters, and upstairs the band practising "Rudolph the Red-Nosed Reindeer".

"I think it's time we started all over again," said Slim Bliggins, tilting back his chair in front of the fireplace at his shack by the railway tracks. I put down my copy of that great Japanese work, Benjo No Kami, by the 19th century writer, Kitai, and peered at my friend Bliggins over my bifocals.

"Start what?" I asked. "Start a clean sheet — man that is. Civilization ought to start all over again. I've been readin' here about this here feller Cro-Magnon, that prehistoric feller I was searching for in them French caves once. Says he was a tall, handsome type, with cranial volume fully equal to or greater than that of the average man of today. We might well wish that some of the blood of this magnificent race cursed through our veins, it says. Says their art was especially noteworthy."

"Well, with a couple of atom wars and two or three ice ages, maybe we'll get back to something like him," I said. "Get back!" cried Slim. "It'll be an advancement, that's what."

"No animal, including man, has ever directed his own evolutionary course," I said. "Well whatever the curse, he's got it pretty bad," said Slim.

"What do you mean, curse," I said. "That evolutionary curse you is talkin' about," said Slim. "Oh that," I said, Slim gets sidetracked so easily.

It was Tuesday night, our reading night. Some people at handkerchiefs, others play bridge on Tuesday nights. We read.

It is most every Tuesday night that Slim delivers his exhortation on man. He sees man so imperfect, dissects him and examines the parts, throws them aside and scoffs. He rants about the press and radio, goes into a rage about the stupid fools running wars and killing each other. Eventually he rumbles away, like thunder, into the kitchen and makes a pot of coffee a la Bliggins.

"A cranial volume equal to or greater than the average man of today," repeated Slim. "Why if them Cro-Magnons had had half a chance, if there hadn't been another ice age, they would have been a thousand years ahead with cranes like that."

"Cranes? What are you talking about?" I pondered. "Heads, you clout," said Slim.

"Oh, yes, heads," I said. "I says that it's time to start over. Man has had his sweet day of triumph. Now he's going to kill himself off. Then he will be replaced by some other menadin' group which will dominate the earth. I tell you modern man is going to be the victim of his own circumstance, I mean invention."

It was soon time for Slim to rage away into the kitchen and make coffee. The pitch of his voice was as strange as higher. Started Slim. "The bull dang trouble is that modern man ain't got the crane. He has just enough cranial volume to build enough atomic weapons to hang himself. He ain't got that extra brain to guide his own fate, then."

"Two bad about the Cro-Magnon," I said. "But maybe it was all crane and no brain to speak of. Where to know? All we have to show is some old fossil in a cave."

"What's the use," said Slim. "As them French so often says, 'La mort nous egalise tous.' 'Egalite tous,' I said.

mas. One drops a line to these people, only it's usually printed, and represents somebody else's thought.

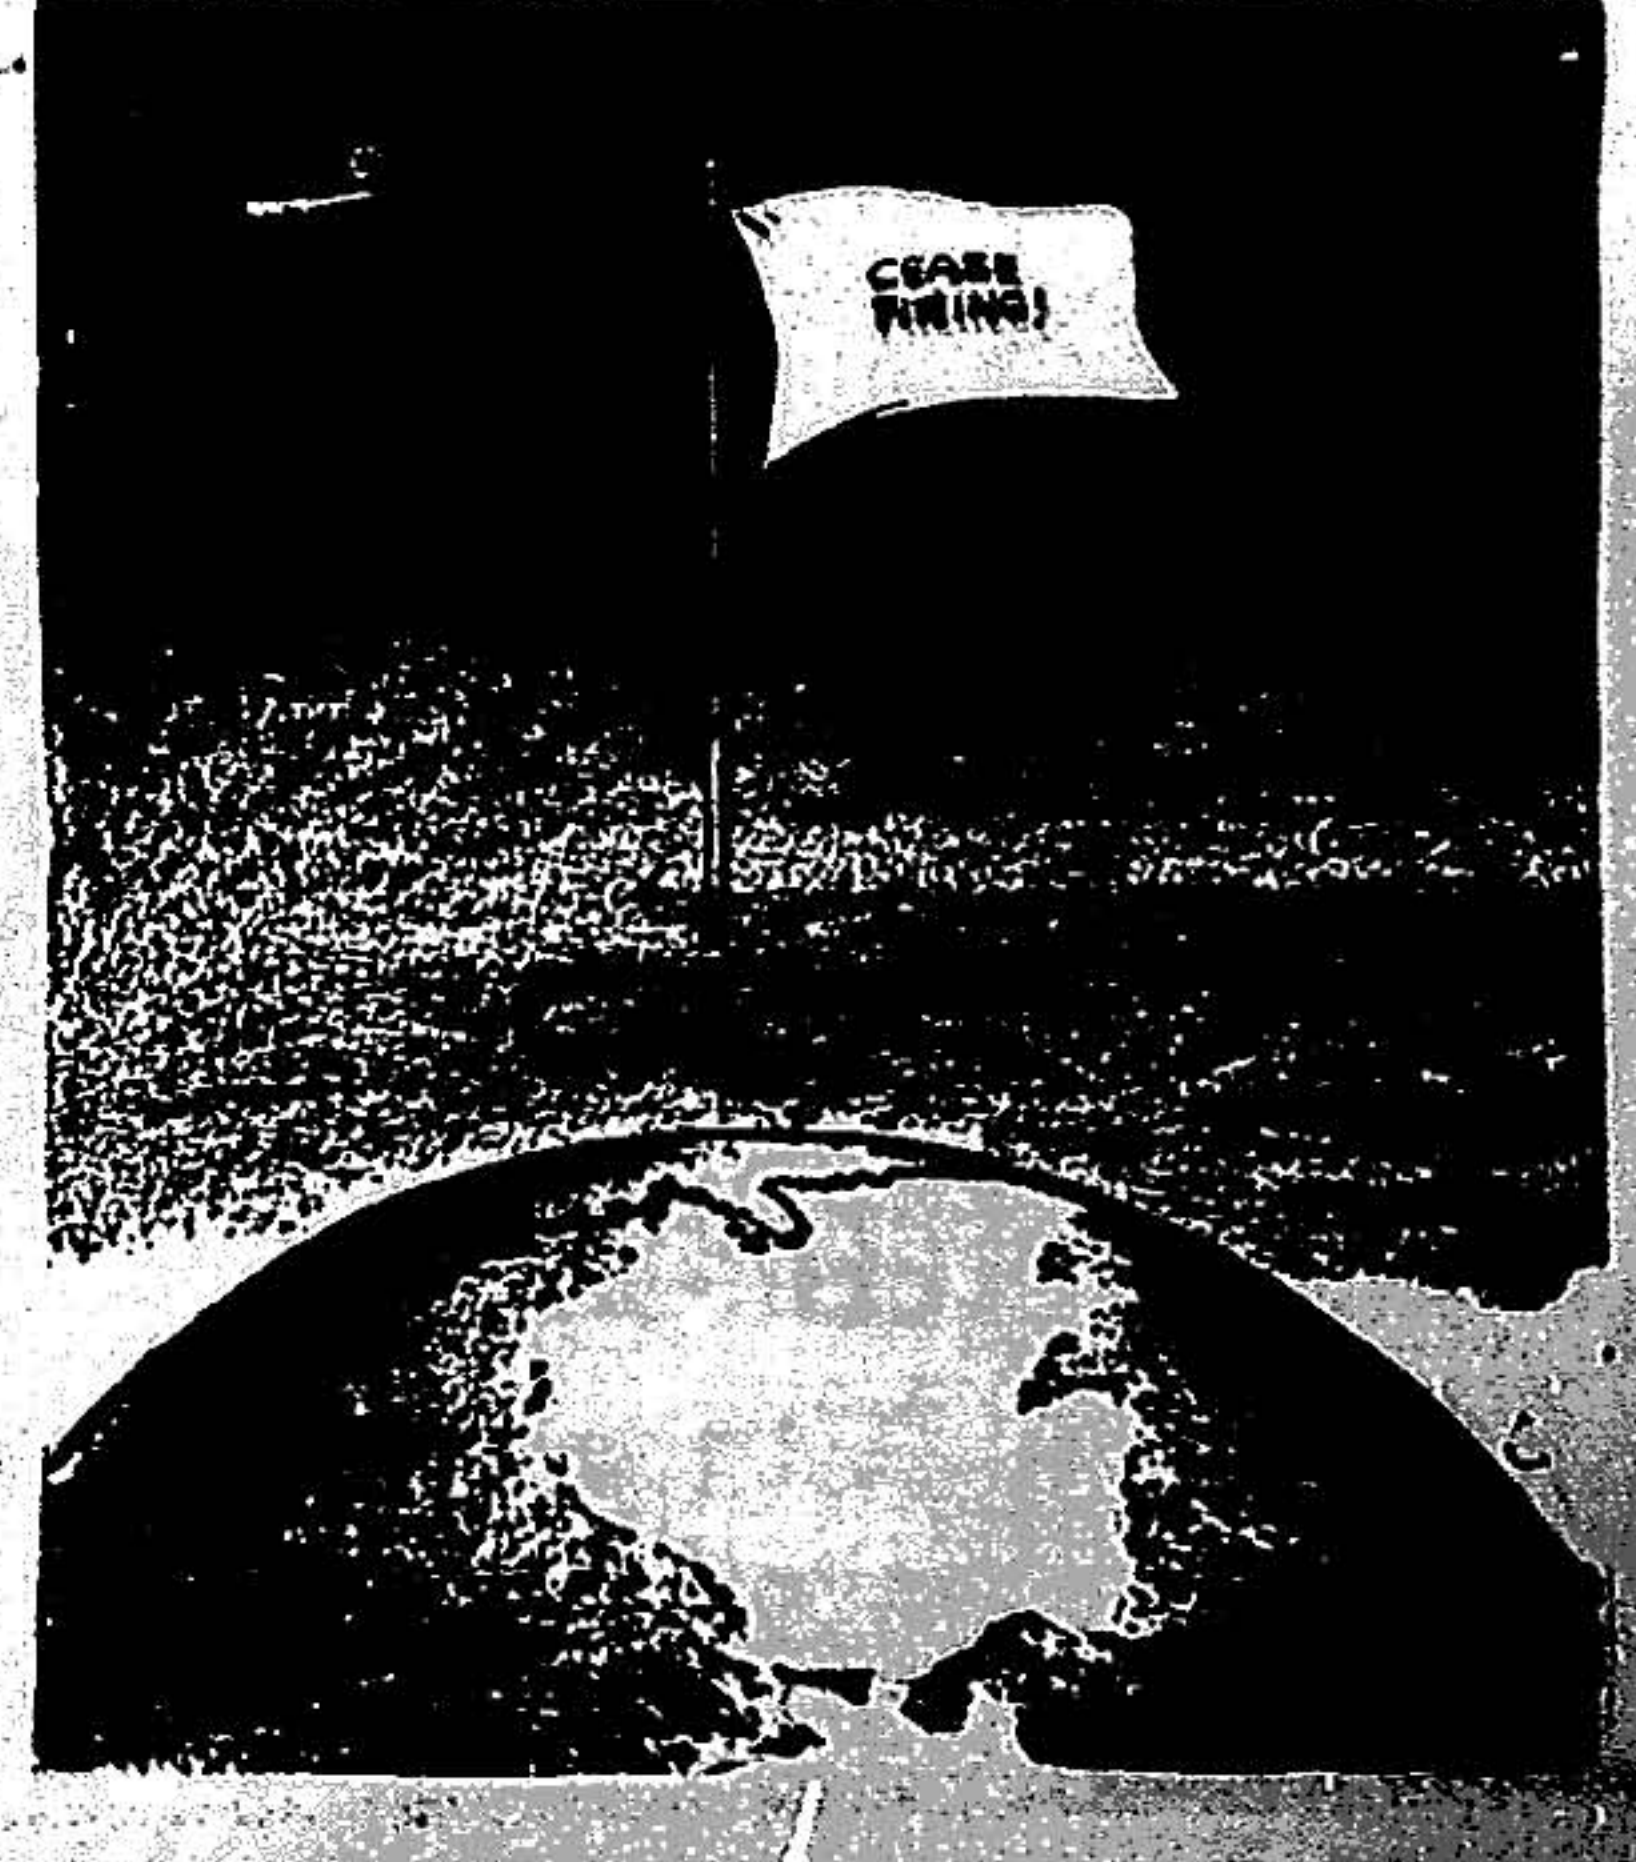

You will have to admit that to send a card in this sense to Aunt Minnie in Kapuskasing is a fine gesture. It means that we are thinking of her at this time and in our memories we recall all the things that connect the address Aunt Minnie to Christmas.

This is not the same as sending a card to a man whom we see every day and whom we can wish Christmas to anytime from now until December 25. That is silly and insincere. To send a person a greeting far away is a generous thing. To send a person a greeting one can give it to in person doesn't make sense.

Many of you will say that we are wrong and we are picking on an unimportant detail. Well, there was a time when we helped out in a post office at Christmas time. Cards came in by the thousands. People labored at sorting them. If you ever saw this accumulation of business cards and plain downright advertising in the name of what Christmas should be you would be as sick of it as we were.

We can hear all the arguments coming up and we will be told that we are unbecomingly, we are callous and just a bit mean. Fine, maybe so. But if you want to send a man a reminder to ask him to do business with you next year, do it by all means but do not call it a Christmas card. And if you want to do some advertising, well that's fine. Do it. Only call it that. And if you want to remember a person on Christmas day well, write him and say so. But let us not have this huge avalanche of cards, in most cases a misrepresentation of facts and feelings.

Now then, get ready for Christmas and the municipal elections.

Leave your shadow at Fergie's Studio next week if you want your photos to mail before Christmas.

Although a very disagreeable evening, over 20 people turned out to the pie social held last Friday night by the Armitage Community Club.

Only three weeks till Christmas.

The post office inspector was here the other day and to conserve the heat ordered that the north door in the post office be closed during the winter months. So don't be fooled; use the two east doors.

Mr. Pollock sold a pair of foxes in Toronto one day last week.

Sutton river bridge is coming along fine and we are expecting to see it done by Christmas.

Virginia: A large crowd attended church on Sunday when Rev. Belfry delivered a splendid sermon. We were glad to see some of the children out again, after having chickenpox.

Queensville: Glad to see a start on the new rink.

The absence of electric current last Saturday was due to a break in the main line somewhere between here and Niagara Falls, owing, no doubt, to the high wind and sleet on Friday night.

The boys and girls had a great time skating on Fairy Lake on Thanksgiving Day. The ice is six inches thick.

A London cablegram states that the provisional date for the coronation of King Edward VII and Queen Alexandra is June 25, 1902.

Two weeks from Wednesday will be Christmas—that grand old day that comes but once a year, and our merchants are hopeful of a good holiday trade—a hope that we trust will not be disappointed.

Baldwin: Grandpa Russell Morton went to Muskoka in the hunting season. Has not yet returned. Perhaps will winter there.

Baldwin: Several silver gray foxes have been seen in this section. Most probably the same one several times. Their fur is valuable.

We notice that Newmarket boys, returning from school on bright warm days when the snow packs nicely, very frequently indulge in this mischievous practice, thereby violating a town by-law. School teachers had better sound a note of warning.

Bradford: Burgess' Acetylene Gas Works here were partly destroyed by fire on the afternoon of Thanksgiving Day.

Queensville: Several tenders are in for the rink but no decision has been arrived at yet.

Queensville: Mr. Henry Travis had the misfortune to injure his driving mare on Sunday last. She is unable to do any work.

At Kingcrafts Meeting Display Historical Dolls

The Pageant of Historical Dolls was the feature attraction of the Kingcrafts Guild meeting at the home of Mrs. Geoffrey Beatty, Drynack Farms, Yonge St., on November 28. Lady Flavell, the president, presided.

Mrs. R. L. McFarlane of Maple created the doll figures, which are miniature replicas of famous personalities, from the 12th century to modern concert stars and Hollywood personalities. She showed 90 of the 150 dolls she had made.

The costumes are authentic reproductions. The bodies are made of cotton and the faces painted and embroidered to accent the features. They bear a great likeness to the persons whom they represent.

One of the groups displayed was King Henry VIII and his six wives, attired in their royal robes and jewels. Other dolls were: a Harlem comedy team, Princess Elizabeth, a pioneer mother and her baby. Mrs. McFarlane spoke briefly about her work. She was thanked by Mrs. H. Bryan, and presented with a bouquet of chrysanthemums.

Mrs. McFarlane joined the organization that afternoon, and has offered to make a character doll for the bazaar raffle next June.

Mrs. E. C. Moyer, one of the founders of the Georgetown Arts and Crafts, and a co-owner of "Kirkcrafts", near Brampton, told how the Georgetown group was organized in 1940 by five would-be artists. She told of its development to the present stage of 40 working members, and spoke of the growing popularity of work sales. With her was Mrs. John McDermott, a weaver from Brampton.

Of interest to the rugging group was a design done in water colors by Mr. Frank Fog, an artist at King. At a suggestion made earlier by Mr. Thor Hansen, the design embodied the flower of each of the 10 provinces and scenes at King.

Active membership in Kingcrafts will be limited to 100, until a community hall is built in King. There is, of course, no limit on associate membership. It was decided to withdraw membership in the Canadian Handcraft Guild for the present. The constitution and by-laws of the organization were approved by members.

$1,200 Sale Objective

An objective of $1,200 has been set for the first public work sale and bazaar to be held on June 4, 1952, at "Kingswood", the home of Lady Flavell. Each crafter is asked to contribute two pieces of her best work, and in addition, each working group will give a special piece for the raffle. Mrs. Harry Edwards and Mrs. James Rock have offered to make a hand-placed quilt for the draw. Other fund-raising booths will be home cooking and plants and a Caledonia market (interesting miscellaneous articles). Afternoon tea will be served.

Starting in the New Year, members are being asked to sell 20 draw tickets at 25c each. Mrs. Beatty will convene the sale. Mrs. Phair will be in charge of display and Mrs. Bob Benson will convene the market.

Lady Flavell announced the formation of Teenagers, a teenagers' group studying metal work, and affiliated with Kingcrafts. There will not be a general meeting in December, but in January an evening meeting will be held in King United church, when it is expected that Sir Ellsworth Flavell will show films.

Refreshments were served by the weaving group. Mrs. Ernest Rolph and Mrs. W. Harper poured tea at the dining table. On behalf of Kingcrafts, Mrs. Ivan Specht expressed appreciation to Mrs. Beatty for her hospitality.

News Of The W.I.

News for this column must be in the office Monday night. Copy must be written as briefly as possible and confined to news and reports. Other than routine reports and announcements will be printed separately.

Newmarket W. I. will meet one week early on Thursday, Dec. 13. A good Christmas program will be provided. Special collection for overseas boxes will be taken. Please note the change of date.

The Vandorf branch regular meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Ray McCarron on Wednesday, Nov. 21, with Mrs. H. C. Powell, the president, presiding. There was a large number attending, and it was decided to send donations to the Jamaica Hurricane Relief Fund and to the W.I. Tractor Fund to Greece. Committees were appointed to arrange for a play to be put on by Women's Institute members and a penny sale to take place in the spring.

Mrs. H. Hillary gave a splendid report on the area convention which was held in Toronto. During the social hour Mrs. McCarron turned the television to the Kate Smith show. Hostesses were: Mrs. A. C. McTaggart, Mrs. H. C. Powell and Mrs. F. Preston.

The next meeting will be the Grandmothers' Christmas program at the home of Mrs. Harold Sleeth on Wednesday, Dec. 12. There will be a demonstration of Christmas wrapping. Current events will be given by Mrs. H. Dowsbury. Roll call is to be answered with "Childhood memories of Christmas," and a collection for the pabulum fund.

Hostesses are Mrs. S. Aylett, Miss Pearl Cule and Mrs. Stephen Eade.

Lakeside branch held its November meeting Tuesday evening. The president, Mrs. P. Mahoney, conducted the business, after which Mrs. Boothby demonstrated smoking.

Mrs. F. Marritt described flower arrangements from the Royal Winter Fair.

Mrs. M. Rye, our delegate to Toronto convention, gave a detailed report of the sessions.

YOUNG HOPEFULS BY DOROTHY MIRA BOWMAN

Norene And Movies

Norene, eight years old, is a regular Saturday movie-goer, and evidently deeply impressed by some of the things she sees.

Although Norene never misses a Saturday movie, she has never been very talkative about the movies she sees. When Norene's parents question her about them, they never get enough information to know whether or not their child has absorbed anything from what she has seen. Norene insists she likes all of the movies and is eager to go next time.

Norene's parents see no reason why she shouldn't go regularly, since there is no indication of any ill effects. Besides not talking about what she has seen, she never imitates anything she has seen or heard—perhaps she just goes for the outing or for the fun of eating pop-corn.

It wasn't until a recent unusual experience that Norene's parents realized she was absorbing the pictures to the extent that she was deeply impressed by them.

Norene had had a few stitches taken (result of an accident), which required an anaesthesia. Before she had entirely gained consciousness, she noticed the nurse put a glass on the table. Norene cautioned the nurse, "You mustn't do that. It will mark the table."

Norene's mother was surprised at the remark, but the nurse had seen a recent movie which had a similar incident and in which one of the characters was cautioned about putting a glass on the table. The little incident had made an indelible impression on Norene. The nurse was able to satisfy Dorene by telling her that the hospital table would not mark, since it had a washable surface instead of polished wood as in the picture.

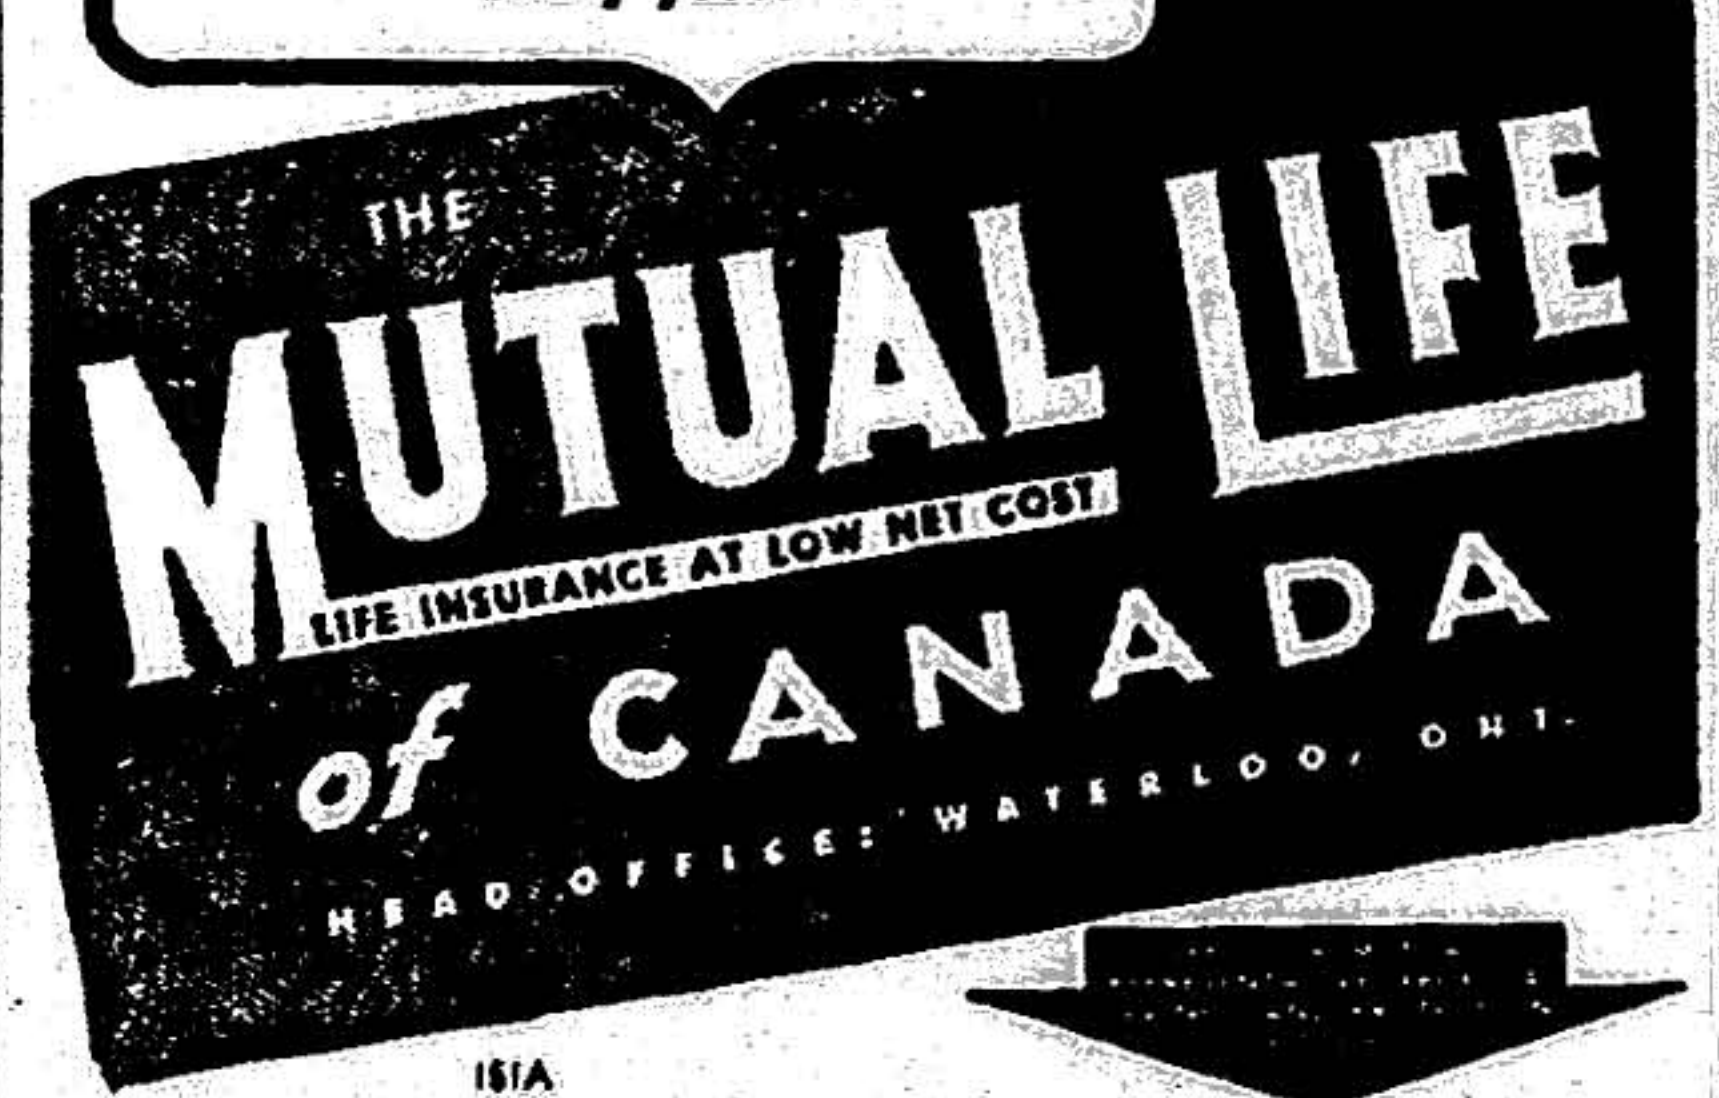

Because the nurse had seen the same picture, it was the subject of conversation while Dorene was convalescing. Dorene's accurate recollections proved she didn't miss many of the details.

An excitable, talkative child often frees himself of ideas before they have made a lasting impression; whereas the silent type absorbs and retains impressions.

WILL BUY RADIOS

The Newmarket Home and School association at its November meeting decided to purchase auxiliary equipment for use in the public schools. Three radios for use in the Stuart Scott, Alexander Muir and King George schools and a couch for the nurse's room at the Prince Charles school will be purchased by the group. Funds were raised for these projects through the association's catering to a banquet in October and the holding of an opportunity sale.

Good insurance — like good health — grows more important every year.

THE CARIBOU AND A PLAY

In the hinterland of British Columbia little known save to pioneers adventurers and missionaries lies the great tract of land known as the Caribou.

Here people live in small settlements in tiny villages or in isolated homes. In their brief summers they have the beauty of towering mountains, the sheen of lake and river, and the sight of growing things.

In the winter the temperature goes down and down and down, and 50 below is not uncommon. And it is here, in this rugged land where men sometimes descend in the scale of living to the level of beasts, that young missionaries go forth to preach the Gospel to bring the good tidings of great joy to those who will hear.

Shower Pictures
Rev. Gordon Hunter brought all this to us on Sunday evening of last week, when by the tale of his own work in the Caribou and with pictures of it, he showed us what some men are doing to obey Christ's command, "to go into all the world and preach."

From William's Lake, where he was stationed, the trails to the 42 places he was to visit rayed out like the spokes of a wheel.

The roads in the spring were not roads but ruts, so deep that once in there was no out till some place had been reached. We saw pictures of men on horseback pulling the minister's car out of the mud, and it was an experience I, for one, would be loath to share, for the horses were western horses and one felt, looking on, that as they reared up they would either fall back and crush the car or break it to pieces. However, neither the riders nor the driver seemed upset, so I suppose it was all in the day's work.

The sheer drops beside these roads would be enough to give the ordinary driver heart failure, and yet these young missionaries go on feeding the people who "cannot live by bread alone."

Christmas Time
Mr. Hunter told us of a Christmas service at 50 below, when he, the minister, wore everything he could pile on, including gloves, and the organist played with gloves on, for otherwise his fingers would have frozen and, at the communion service, the wine froze in the cups. They held these over the fire until it came away from the sides of the cup and came out like a little ball.

We saw the little churches, and the schools where ministers and teachers try to feed children and adults with mental and spiritual food.

Each little community has a stampede of its own, and we saw the wild riding and the enthusiasm of the onlookers. Mr. Hunter said the work of the missionary is to keep alive the

Needlecraft News

by Pauline Roy

WOMEN FOR centuries have been familiar with the arts and crafts in needlecraft. All of us have done our share at one time or another through pleasure or sometimes necessity. Needlework is a must and high on the list of requirements for the perfect wife.

The women of today are well aware of this and daily they are becoming more enthusiastic about all the things they can do and all the things they can make. They know the nice things and they know how to go about getting them.

Embroidery is one of the oldest types of all needlework. The ladies of the courts used to work designs depicting the events of the day. Some of these masterpieces have given us important historical information. It was one of their greatest pleasures and forms of relaxation.

We do not have quite so much leisure time to-day but women are still able to enjoy the pleasure of embroidery. They like to be able to bring to life copies of the beauties of nature and to work them into a piece of fabric by using a needle. They embroider on everything, on pillow cases, luncheon sets, towels and clothing. A well-done piece is truly a thing of beauty and much to be admired. You too can have this pleasure and see for yourself what fun it is. The lovely things you make will be useful to you or you can use them as gifts for your friends. The sewing circle is growing. The modern girl is sewing more and enjoying every

BEAVERS HAVE MANY REPAIRED TOYS BUT NEED PAINT MONEY

The Busy Beavers, a group of youngsters engaged in remodeling toys for Lions Christmas basket gifts and for children in hospital, have a large stock prepared for the coming Christmas season.

In the basement of the residence of Harold Tite, Bolton Ave., Newmarket, there is a great stock of dolls, carriages, trucks, wagons and trains. Some of the stock will have to be moved to the United Church basement next week to make room in Mr. Tite's basement which is the Beavers' workshop.

Mr. Tite says that finances for paint, sandpaper and brushes are running low. "We use a large amount of paint and sandpaper," he said. "Any donations to the Busy Beavers for paint and paper will be received gratefully." There are still many old toys which the Beavers have collected still to be repaired.

Three Trustees Close In King City Election

Monday's election at King City was proof that it takes a small village to put on a "real show." For the first time in 11 years voters went to the polls to elect three trustees from a slate of five candidates. The village went on its own to hold an election as there was no concurring election for a township council. Out of 330 possible voters, 230 cast ballots.

Other years, civic offices were held by acclamation and for the most part it was like "pulling teeth" to get anyone to stand for office. It was nearly as difficult to interest ratepayers in nominations. But that day is past. The election was as colorful as the candidates themselves. The counts of the three elected trustees showed "just how close can you get?"

William Carson, retired farmer, was returned to office for his eighth term. He tied with Donald Findlay, war veteran resident at King for less than four years, with 158 votes each. Crawford Wells, general merchant, was re-elected for his seventh term. He polled 154 votes.

Defeated were William Barker, 108 votes, and James Armstrong, newcomer, 28 votes. William Carson, called the "Mayor About Town," said he did better than he expected in the running, but he thought he would "be in there some place." He was well pleased with the outcome of the election and the magnificent way voters turned out. He had not intended to stand for candidacy but voters pressed him. "I didn't want to let them down," he stated.

Mr. Carson says the future looks bright. The first move by town fathers would be to lay sidewalks to the school and repair old ones. Scarcity and high cost of cement was a factor in delaying this work. Cement prices have now dropped on the market. Hydro extensions will be built in three directions, west to Dew's, east to Brown's and north to the school. Eight large lights are ready to be installed at the main intersection of the village. He says the trustees will be prepared to seek action on improvement of the fourth concession roadway.

Donald Findlay, staff lawyer with McLean-Hunter Publishing Company and president of King Legion branch, states the result of the election seems to prove what he had previously stated, "that the present trustees have done a good job but taxpayers want to be kept better informed on village matters."

Crawford Wells, engaged in village store-keeping from a boy, can lay further claim to his statement, "that he has been in and out of village trusteeship for over 20 years." He thinks this was a good election and nothing wrong with it. He has won his bet that Mr. Carson would win first place.

James Armstrong, a King resident for less than two years, and also a home owner, is as good a loser as he would have been a winner. "I think there was good community spirit when people got out and vote as they did. They showed an interest in village affairs, never before manifested. We will watch the activities of the incoming trustees with keen interest," said Mr. Armstrong, congratulating those elected.

While we were not able to interview Mr. Barker, we would say he will be just as keen in the future about village matters as he was as a former King township councillor.

Shop Early at Home

Christmas shopping is well on its way and buying is being done much earlier than other years, local merchants report. The only snag they run into is the difficulty of replacing some of the stock to meet public demand.

Bazaar Profits High

More than $200 was realized from the recent bazaar and tea given by the W.A. of King United church last week. Expenses were very low and patronage was widespread.

Using 36 cups of flour, home-rendered lard and other basic ingredients, Mrs. Austin Rumble, the president, baked 216 tea biscuits in the church kitchen for the afternoon tea. They were served hot from the wood stove oven, for which she had to improvise grates, for the afternoon tea. She stoked the fire with cut fence rails, to keep the oven temperature at 450 degrees. It took 15 minutes for each lot.

Folded in dainty baskets for serving, the biscuits were accompanied by containers of jam, jelly and honey. The tables were decorated with Santa Claus candles. Responsible for the tea arrangements were Mrs. Thompson, Mrs. I. L. Scott and Mrs. Geo. Harvey. Other members convened the various bounties.

Beef King 60 Years Old

King and Vaughan Townline Beef Ring will celebrate 60 years organization tonight (Thursday) at a turkey banquet, at All Saints' Anglican church, served by the W.A. It is expected that 20 shareholders and families and many former members of the association will attend, making up 100 places at the "farmers' style supper."

Present will be William McKay, 77, of King district who ate roast beef from the first young bullock slaughtered by the Ring in June, 1891. He is the only person who can say this. "I wish I could get meat like it today. I have never eaten meat since that tasted as good." The animals were stable fed.

Two of the originators of the association were the late William Walkington, King township, and the late Mitchell Hadwen of Vaughan. Killing was done on the Walkington place for many years. Now it is done on Lorne Scott's farm, 5th line, King. He is secretary-treasurer and butcher of the club and Wilbert Burns is the president.

The Hadwen family of Vaughan have belonged to the beefing for 60 years. Elmer Hadwen is the grandson of Mitchell, charter member and a founder. There will also be Camerons, Burns, Scotts and many others at the banquet table, representing old families in the association.

Escapes Injury in Car Mishap

Eric B. Johnston of King was lucky to escape injury late last Friday afternoon when his car went into a skid, struck a boulder and turned over in the ditch on Eversley side road, east of the fourth concession line. A mud greased spot in the road caused the accident, which rolled the car on its top and back on the right side. Unhurt, he was able to climb out on the driver's side. The top and side of the car were badly damaged. Practicing osteopathy in Newmarket, Eric Johnston was returning home from his Water Street office.

Thanksgiving Theme of Eversley W.M.S.

"As Christians, let us never be satisfied to use but one talent to express thankfulness. Facing a pagan world, let us gossip about the Christian life, and get back to the old fashioned in religious thoughts and ways," declared Mrs. J. H. Douglas of Oakville, district vice-president of Section 1, West Presbyterian, speaking on Thanksgiving at the thank-offering meeting of Eversley Presbyterian W.M.S., at the home of Mrs. T. L. Williams. Numbering 40, the gathering was made up of Eversley, Ninth Line and Strang workers. Mrs. Fred Curtis presided.

Mrs. Douglas was introduced by Mrs. Williams, and later Mrs. W. R. Adamson, Oakville, senior secretary of auxiliaries of the Dominion W.M.S. Council, spoke of her experience in unveiling the memorial tablet of Old Kildonan church, Manitoba, where Presbyterianism was first begun in the Canadian west.

The scripture lesson was read by Mrs. Williams. Mrs. L. E. Rolling gave the general prayer and later expressed appreciation to the speakers and all who had given toward the program.

The soloists of the afternoon were Mrs. Fred Gray of Strang auxiliary and Miss Helen Hunter of Laskay, who was accompanied by Mrs. Len Shropshire.

The thankoffering amounted to nearly $32, which, with the December offerings, will complete the year's mission allocation of $132. Next meeting will be held a week earlier, on Dec. 12, at the home of Mrs. Albert Jones. Members were reminded to give donations towards a Christmas fund, to combine with the W.A. in gifts for the York County Home for the Aged. In the absence of Mrs. J. Phillips, the secretary, Mrs. Rhoda Farren recorded the minutes of the meeting.

Brother Dies Suddenly

Mrs. Elias Bice and husband were called to Novor, Ont., on Saturday, Nov. 24, with news of the death of Adam Coulter, 57, a brother of Mrs. Bice, who dropped dead on the highway three miles north of Huntsville, as a result of a heart seizure. Among the gifts were a dinner set of Athlone china, given by Mr. Forester to his wife; flowers from the family, an electric tri-light floor lamp from cousins, and a beautiful guest book made by Mrs. Marshall McMurchy.

The couple are both 74 years of age, and the best wishes of the district are extended for many long years of useful, happy life together.
